STATEMENT FROM SIMON SWIG

On the Remarkable Success of the

TREMONT TRUST COMPANY

35 COURT STREET, BOSTON--BRANCH, 77 WARREN STREET, ROXBURY

Open Saturdays Until 10 P. M. for the Accommodation of the Public

I have been asked the reason of the phenomenal growth, strength and success of the Tremont Trust Company.

I will tell. It is no secret, especially is it no secret from the people who have increased the assets in this bank to nearly fourteen million dollars in less than six years.

Relatively speaking the Tremont Trust Company has no peer in New England. Its resources are liquid. It is strong. It is democratic. It is the exponent of the square deal in banking.

I believe its success is due to its own fourteen points, which are herein enumerated:

1. To regard its obligations to the people as a sacred trust, to require that its officers have no interlocking banking connections, and to have no reciprocal deposits.
2. To have on its Managing and Examining Boards only men of the highest integrity and soundest judgment.
3. To make loans and investments on merit only, and not on friendship, relationship or on speculation. The security of the loan and not the rate of interest is the controlling factor to maintain strictly a banking institution, not a promoting institution. Wild-cat schemes are simply thrown out the window.
4. To keep the loans and investments as liquid as possible, and not to have the securities collateral or rediscounted except in extreme emergencies, so as to meet all requirements of depositors in any amount and at any time.
5. To be unselfish by equitably dividing the earnings with its depositors.
6. To keep old friends and make new ones. We have today the same Clearing Houses in Boston and New York as we had when we opened.
7. To require borrowers to meet their obligations promptly. In our savings department there are but three small loans on which the interest is overdue.
8. To keep always a strong reserve fund. We carry 30%; the law requires but 20%.
9. To keep the Capital Stock at a moderate amount so that the earnings may be distributed in interest to depositors rather than divided into dividends to stockholders.
10. To pay interest in our savings department monthly, and to pay as much interest as our income warrants; and to allow withdrawals at any time practically without the loss of interest. Our interest payments have for the past six months amounted to over 5 per cent.
11. To fight for the banking rights of the people, as we did when the Legislature passed a law prohibiting the payment of interest monthly. We invoked the aid of the Initiative and Referendum, and also Governor Coolidge. We brought about the repeal of the law.
12. To live for depositors and to provide them with every facility possible in our checking, savings, foreign exchange and safe deposits departments.
13. To be constantly on the alert against trimmers and schemers, and to carry an umbrella along even when the sun is shining.
14. To serve the people to the best of our ability and to accord everybody courteous treatment. It makes no difference whether our friends bank with us in person or by mail—we are always at their service.

The integrity of our officers, the strength of our financiers, the democracy of our service and the invariable practice of the Golden Rule have endeared us to the people of New England. We will spare no effort to continue to deserve their confidence and patronage.

U.S. AGENTS ACCUSED IN COURT

Anderson Says They Laid Themselves Open to Charge of Writing 'Red' Literature

Federal Judge George W. Anderson declared today that the government had left itself open to the suspicion of using agents to write "Red" literature on which it was now seeking to deport alleged Communists.

"It is perfectly plain from the evidence," he declared, "that the government owns and operates part of this Communist party."

Judge Anderson made his statement as presiding justice in the habeas corpus proceedings of Anna Recht England "Reds," slated for deportation.

The statement was made during the examination of Isaac Ferguson, acting secretary of the Communist party. Ferguson refused to classify a "radical" book on the ground that such literature put out under the name of the party was the work of government spies manufacturing evidence.

Judge Anderson, in further commenting on the government's activities in the January "Red" raids, referred to the government admission that these agents had "stimulated" the radicals in order to make conviction sure. Assistant District Attorney

Had Premonition of N. Y. Church Murder

By International News Service.

New York, April 20.—Rev. Dr. Karl Reiland, rector of St. George's Church, where Dr. James W. Markoe, noted surgeon, was shot to death Sunday by Thomas W. Simpkin, a paranoiac, today, revealed that he had had a premonition of trouble just before the shooting. He said he had felt nervous during the entire service for some unaccountable reason.

"My wife, too, had a feeling that something was wrong," said the clergyman. "She had insisted on leaving before the services were over, but several people told her that something was wrong with me, so she decided to remain. In fact, all during the service I had a feeling within me that something was wrong—a premonition of danger."

POLICE PROBE ATTACK STORY

Jennie Nolan, 14, of Charlestown, Thought Man Was Police Officer

The Charlestown police today were investigating the story of Jennie Nolan, fourteen, of No. 3 Benedict street, Charlestown, who told her mother that a man she believed to be a policeman had attempted to attack her a short distance from her home.

According to the girl's story, the officer, who the police believe may have been a ruse, asked the girl to accompany him to a vacant house across the street, stating that he was not familiar with the neighborhood.

The girl declared that on reaching an alley in the rear of the house the man placed one hand on her mouth and threw her to the ground.

The girl struggled and managed to free her mouth, she said, after which she screamed and the man ran through an exit to Rutherford avenue. Returning to her home, the girl at that time said nothing of the affair. Her mother, Mrs. Frances Nolan, noticed, however, that she was hysterical and had been crying, she informed the police.

A day or two later some of the girl's chums went to Mrs. Nolan and told her the story as they had secured it from Jennie. Mrs. Nolan then called Dr. Fred Lyons of Charlestown, who stated that he believed the girl's story to be true.

WILL CALL OFF RAIL STRIKE

Chicago Leaders Declare They Will Not Fight Against U. S. Government

By International News Service.

Chicago, April 20.—The strike of Chicago switchmen, which started in this city nearly three weeks ago and spread throughout the country, will be called off Wednesday, it was announced today.

This decision was arrived at by the strike leaders this morning. They claimed a victory over the railroads and the brotherhoods, but announced that they would not fight the government in order to maintain the strike.

"As long as we were fighting the railroads and the brotherhoods we stood ready to sacrifice our all for our causes," said a member of the executive committee of the Yardmen's Association, the strikers' organization. "But as every member of the Yardmen's Association, is a true-blooded American we refuse to take a stand against our government."

Every effort will be made by the strike leaders, including their head, John Grunau, to induce the strikers to return to work, and a mass meeting for this purpose will be held

WILSON AND CABINET DISCUSS RAIL STRIKE

Washington, April 20.—President Wilson today spent an hour and a quarter meeting with his Cabinet. The railroad situation was discussed informally, and gratitude was voiced by the President and the Cabinet at the progress made by the Railroad Labor Board and the general return of normal transportation conditions. Secretary of State Colby refused to say whether the question of representation for the United States at the San Remo conference of the allied premiers had been taken up.

GOVERNOR TAKES SIDE OF PUBLIC

Intends to Force Roads to Store Up Fuel in Summer for Winter Needs

Condemning seizure by the railroads of coal consigned to the State's institutions and to private purchasers as "entirely unlawful," Governor Coolidge today declared that he was seeking means to compel the roads to store in the Summer months a supply of coal sufficient for the Winter's needs.

"The New England roads," said Governor Coolidge, "maintain great storage yards into which they dump during the Summer months enough coal to carry them through the Winter. The coal-carrying roads, however, appear to find it more economical to seize coal that is destined for New England, thus saving themselves the cost of storing it and reloading it when they need it in the Winter.

"In some cases this past Winter they seized coal consigned to State charitable institutions, with the result that some of them narrowly escaped freezing.

"Such seizures are entirely unlawful. They have no more right to take coal consigned to other parties than they have to come into my back yard and take the washing of the line.

"I have written the Federal Trade Board, and they replied that they have no jurisdiction, but I hope to be able to find some authority to require the roads to do what they plainly ought to do."

GIRLS FLEE FROM FIRE IN ESSEX STREET BUILDING

Defective electric wiring leading to the motor in the rear of the establishment of the L. G. Several girls employed at the place who were at lunch, made a hasty exit from the shop. The firm manufactures canvas gloves and leather goods. Ford & Cohen's hosiery store and storeroom occupies the street and second floor, with Stern Brothers, cap manufacturers, on the third. The building is owned by Ford & Cohen.

street, was arraigned in the United States District Court today.

A warrant served by Department of Justice officials charges "unlawful exacting of excessive prices in the necessaries of life." It is alleged that butter was sold at from 58 to 69 cents a pound.

Attorney Charles A. MacDonald, representing the concern, which is stated to have done a $2,000,000 business in Boston within the past year, asked for a continuance, which was granted, McAuliffe being released on $500 bond.

1,200 Arrests Since U. S. Began Profiteer War

Washington, April 20.—The climax of the campaign waged by the Department of Justice against profiteering will be reached within the next thirty days, Howard E. Figg, special assistant to the Attorney-General, told a sub-committee of the Senate Manufactures Committee.

No general decline in the cost of living can be expected, however, as a result of the campaign, Mr. Figg stated. Until the country's production is stimulated to equal the consumption, he said, there could be no appreciable fall in living costs.

1200 HAVE BEEN ARRESTED.

Two "flying squadrons" of twenty-five investigators are now traveling about the country gathering facts regarding prices and examining into the deluge of complaints of alleged profiteering which have been submitted to fair price commissioners in the various States, Mr. Figg told the committee.

A total of 1,200 profiteers have been arrested since the department inaugurated its campaign last October, he added.

"How many indictments were returned from these arrests?" asked Senator Pomerene.

"Approximately 350 indictments, with conviction in about 85 per cent. of the cases," replied Mr. Figg.

"How many profiteers went to jail?" continued Senator Pomerene.

"About twenty-five or thirty," replied Mr. Figg.

"Were these big profiteers or little ones?"

"Both," Mr. Figg answered.

Investigations now in progress, Figg testified, cover the activities of several large corporations which deal in raw materials and finished products containing food, fuel and wearing apparel.

Figg stated that the department's campaign had been especially effective in Georgia and Missouri.

Asked by Senator McNary what investigation Mr. Figg's organization had been made of the high price of shoes, he replied that the inquiry was still in progress.

Senator McNary asked whether the Department of Justice had done anything about a report that one of the big packers had stored large quantities of hides in Southern States to keep them off the market and thereby increase the price of shoes. Mr. Figg said that he had not investigated this price hoarding, but promised to do so.

Sherburne Held as Sugar Profiteer

New York, April 20.—E. R. Sherburne, connected with one of the foremost sugar importing concerns of Boston, was arrested here by the profiteering "flying squadron" of the Department of Justice.

He was charged with profiting to the extent of more than $40,000 through a sale of 360,000 pounds of sugar, and was held in $1,000 bail by Federal Commissioner Hitchcock for a hearing on Monday.

Although the legitimate profit for a wholesaler that can be fixed at 1 cent per pound, it was alleged that after buying the sugar at 16½ cents, he sold it at 22½ cents, a profit of 6¼ cents a pound.

Edward R. Sherburne is president of the E. R. Sherburne Company, sugar dealers, No. 113 State street. The company also has branches in Holyoke and Springfield.

Gary Says Steel Trust Refuses to Profiteer

New York, April 20.—Judge Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the board of the United States Steel Corporation, declared at the annual meeting of stockholders in Hoboken that the steel trust had not and would not profiteer. He said the corporation was still holding to the selling price for its output fixed by agreement with the Industrial Board on March 21, 1919.

"We think there is a moral obligation on the part of everyone to use all reasonable efforts to check this carnival of greed and imposition, even at some sacrifice," he said, after speaking of "the increasing tendency to insist upon payment of unreasonable sums for every commodity."

"It should be the effort of all to establish and maintain a reasonable basis of prices, certainly to prevent further increases, otherwise the government, from the standpoint of protection of a part of the public, must interfere," he added.

Judge Gary declared that labor should be subjected to government control and regulation. He reiterated the intention of the company to maintain an open shop. Referring to the strike of last Fall, he said: "A small percentage of employes were members of labor unions. When they were called out they responded, and as a result of threats and intimidations others temporarily quit work, so that altogether about 20 per cent. of the men were out for a short time. The majority were steadfast and loyal."

The following directors were elected for the term ending in 1923: W. J. Philbert, Samuel Mather, Thomas Morrison and John S. Phipps.

Bill Filed in Congress to Punish Food Profiteers

By International News Service.

Washington, April 20.—Gambling in the necessaries of life; corners in wheat, corn or other food articles, withholding of foodstuffs from the market to boost prices, and similar attempts to wring money from the people are prohibited and made punishable by heavy fines in a bill introduced in the House today by Representative Baer of North Dakota.

The bill was referred to the House agricultural committee, now considering a bill to restrict the powers and activities of the meat packers. There are bills also before the committee to regulate operations on produce and it is understood that the Lever bill, similar in their purpose to that sought to be accomplished by Baer.

"I am reliably informed if my bill becomes a law," said Baer, "it will be welcomed by legitimate business interests. It would eliminate speculators who have no right, title or legitimate existence.

"The pinch of want is even now felt by millions of our people who go to bed every night without sufficient food, not because of the scarcity of things to support life in comfort, but because of extortionate prices foisted on us many times by gamblers.

"Recent disclosures of a Federal grand jury have shown that these gamblers have obtained the public's credit and used it for private gain in their schemes to plunder the consumers. Regulation is not a method. Elimination is the only practical remedy. There is no room for these gamblers in the vast pits in time of war. There is no room for them now.

"To allow speculators who have no legal title to goods to purchase futures and fictitious stocks in times of rising economic levels and then manipulate the market in order to make illegitimate profits is a vicious crime.

"They are clogging the free channels of trade and cause an unnecessary increase in the cost of living."

URGES REWARD FOR BANDITS

Resolve Introduced in Senate Authorizes Governor to Offer $25,000

Senator David F. McIntosh of Quincy.

Senator McIntosh introduced his resolve before the orders of the day were read, to insure speedy action. The resolve reads:

"Resolved: That the Governor of the Commonwealth be hereby authorized to offer and pay as a reward for the apprehension and conviction of the person or persons, who, on the 15th day of April murdered Allessandro Beradelli and Frederick A. Parmenter at South Braintree a sum of not less than $15,000 nor more than $25,000."

Accompanying the resolve was a petition signed by Senator McIntosh, which read:

"Petition to the Honorable Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts in General Court assembled:

"The undersigned, citizens of Massachusetts, respectfully petition for legislation to authorize the Governor of the Commonwealth to offer and pay a sum of money as a reward for the apprehension, arrest and conviction of the person or persons who, on the 15th day of April, murdered Allessandro Beradelli and Frederick A. Palmenter at South Braintree."

Explaining his motion, Senator McIntosh said: "Few people outside realize the feeling stirred up by this cowardly and brutal outrage. The wildest exploits of the Wild West have been no worse. People are thinking of the Randolph bank robbery, the White Shoe factory robbery in Bridgewater and this last outrage, and they are wondering whether it is safe to appear on the streets.

"Every resource of the state should be used to apprehend the criminals. The purpose of this order is to appeal to a wide field of private investigators and show the criminally inclined that the State will go the limit."

He added that one of the party in the death car might be induced to turn State's evidence, as "there is no honor among them."

38,000 Railway Clerks and Freight Handlers Vote to Stay on Jobs

Wednesday morning. Federal Judge Landis and United States District Attorney Clyne will be among the speakers.

It will be represented to the strikers that they are no longer fighting the railroads, but an agency of the government, and that they must return to work to win public sympathy pending a ruling from the new Railway Wage Board.

Another wet blanket was cast over the strike today as the result of the action of 38,000 railway clerks and freight handlers in voting against joining the strike.

The vote favored leaving their wage grievances to be settled by the labor board appointed under The Cummins-Esch law.

John Grimaa, chief of the strikers, and four of his aides are in jail as the result of their refusal to give bail on their rearrest on charges of violating the Lever act. Twenty-five more rearrests of strike leaders are planned.

Railroad officials reported the freight movement here to be back to 60 per cent. of normal.

Railway Strikers Call For Immediate Hearing

By International News Service.

Washington, April 20.—Declaring that the railroad strike situation constitutes a national emergency, W. A. Robinson of the Chicago Yardmen's Association and James Eubanks of the St. Louis Yardmen's Association this afternoon filed "emergency" briefs with the railroad labor board asking an immediate hearing for the "outlaw" strikers.

The board adjourned until tomorrow without taking action on the requests for "emergency" hearings, which declared that transportation is in serious difficulty and that conditions will not be bettered until steps are taken to adjust the wage of the "illegal" strikers.

Representatives of strikers in New York and New Jersey will file "Emergency" briefs later in the day.

The board met today in public session and Robinson and Eubanks filed a petition for a hearing for the representatives of the "outlaws," W. N. Doak, of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, protested against the petition being granted.

Chairman Barton declared "Any one can file a petition," adding:

"I want it understood clearly, however, that we will follow the law. The hearing on the wage demands of the Brotherhood will proceed without interference."

Witness in Court Says U. S. Agents Helped Manufacture Evidence

100,000 COMMUNISTS.

Ferguson, whose home is in Chicago, is a writer and preacher of Communism. He testified as an expert. He said that there were now 100,000 Communists in the country, nearly all of whom were Socialists until the split in party ranks in 1919.

The accused "Reds" appeared in court wearing, for the first time, the red carnation which is the badge of their political party. The men among them also wore the inevitable red ties.

Secretary Ferguson described the principles of Communism. He said they were the same as those enunciated in the 1848 manifesto of Karl Marx, and that this manifesto was in every sensible library.

DIVISION OF PROPERTY.

The Communist program, he said, did not contemplate elimination of all private property. A man might own his home or automobile. It did not propose dividing the goods of the world, share and share alike.

What it did contemplate, he said, was the "taking over by political force of the means of production by the workers." The workers would have equal share in these factories, mines and other great enterprises. They would be operated for the profit of those employed in them.

A pamphlet outlining the theories of Communism was introduced by Attorney Morris Katzeff for the "Reds." He declared that an examination would prove it was the same as the Marx manifesto, an entirely proper book as evidenced by its presence in public libraries.

HUNT MAN AFTER GIRLS VANISH

Two Who Left Home to Go to Sunday School Cannot Be Found

Police are hunting a New York man, who recently visited in Chelsea, and who, it is believed, enticed two Chelsea girls to the metropolis.

The girls, Sophie Osepchuk, fourteen, of No. 152 Orange street, and Amelia Miskofsez, fifteen, of No. 79 Everett avenue, disappeared while on their way to Sunday school.

According to the parents of the girls they became acquainted with the man within a week.

Both girls are described as being of medium height. The Osepchuk girl when she left home wore a brown waist with short sleeves, black skirt, dark green coat, black straw hat, low shoes and black stockings.

Her companion wore a blue suit, black velvet coat, yellow hat, low shoes and black stockings. The girls were pupils in the Williams Grammar School.

MEXICO SHAKEN BY EARTHQUAKE

Feared That Serious Damage Has Been Done in State of Vera Cruz

By International News Service.

City of Mexico, April 19.—(Delayed.)—A severe earthquake shock was felt here at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon.

Telegrams from Orizaba and Jalapa stated that shocks were felt simultaneously in those towns and elsewhere in the State of Vera Cruz.

Residents of this city were greatly alarmed and reports became current that the volcano Popocatepetl had become active. Smoke and flames had been pouring from the crater of the volcano in increasing volume during the past few days.

It was feared that the earthquake had caused serious damage and perhaps great loss of life in the same district of Vera Cruz that was visited several months ago, but it was impossible to get definite and detailed information because of the interruption of telegraphic communication.

Washington, April 20.—The earthquake which shook up Mexico was described today as "fairly severe" by Father Tornquist, noted scientist of Georgetown University, here. Father Tornquist has charge of the seismograph at the university. This instrument caught the disturbance at 4:12 p. m. yesterday, at a registered distance of 2,100 miles. The shock lasted until 4:40.

FEAR U. S. OIL SHORTAGE OF 100,000,000 BARRELS

By International News Service.

Washington, April 20.—Faced by the shortage of 100,000,000 barrels of oil a year and the information that foreign interests have practically blocked the way of the United States to the fields where the growing shortage may be made good, Congress may be asked to take a hand in the situation before it is too late.

According to figures issued by the bureau of mines today, last year's oil production was 376,000,000 barrels, as against a consumption of some 90,000,000 barrels in excess of that figure. It was stated that this year's consumption, based upon the report for January, will be approximately a hundred million barrels over and above what the country produces.

Foreign controlled oil wells in Mexico are supplying the United States with about 50,000,000 barrels annually, but this amount is sufficient to make up for half the quantity needed to make good the deficiency. It is stated foreign interests are buying oil properties in the United States.

Information has reached the government indicating that a world-wide shortage of oil is in prospect. It is said many countries, including Great Britain, have enacted laws to prevent those of other nationalities from either acquiring or holding oil properties under their flags.

At the Bureau of Mines it was said in a statement:

"The number of cars and trucks in service increased about 1,200 per cent. from 1909 to 1918. The production of gasoline gained 550 per cent. The production of crude oil increased only 95 per cent."

The Navy Department is seeking large quantities of oil for fuel purposes. It is expected that the needs of the government alone for the year will exceed 200,000,000 barrels.

So serious is the situation, it is stated, the matter may be brought to the attention of Congress

Conditions Bad, Becoming Worse, Say Oil Leaders

New York, April 20.—Prominent men in the oil industry freely admitted here today that the American oil situation was growing more serious every day. Not only is this country failing to produce enough for its consumption, but not enough oil is being produced from American sources anywhere to supply the normal demand.

The prediction of Sir Mackay Edgar, British financier and oil expert, that within ten years the United States would purchase 500,000,000 barrels annually from British sources was received in oil circles with not a little trepidation.

Walter C. Teagle, president of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, said:

"Sir Mackay's statement is a guess. It may be true, it may not be true. The man who attempts to guess what is in the ground is a brave man. We are experimenting all the time, sinking new wells and doing all we can to decrease the difference between American production and American consumption."

Foreign capital can come into American fields and purchase property only on concessions. Americans cannot do that in foreign fields.

A piece of oil property in territory under British control must be 60 per cent. British owned. American capital is limited to rather a restricted field.

"In a nutshell," said an oil man, "the situation is this: England has a policy. America has not. I hope that America will not have to pay someday for this lack of policy."

COUNTER SUIT BY EVELYN THAW

Declares She Will Name Five Co-respondents in Case Against Clifford

By International News Service.

New York, April 20.—Evelyn Nesbit Thaw Clifford is preparing to file a counter suit for divorce and to recover property against her husband and former partner, Jack Clifford, who has brought a divorce action against the former wife of Harry Thaw, naming an actor as co-respondent. In the suit which she intends filing, Miss Nesbit alleges she will name at least five women—"including a well-known motion picture actress."

"I intend also," said Miss Nesbit, "to bring action to recover real estate consisting of 250 acres and the lodge on the Adirondacks, so bought the lodge with money I earned on the vaudeville stage, but when Mr. Clifford went to Reno it was to have the deed transferred he had the property placed in his own name."

Miss Nesbit asserted she had intended bringing her own suit for divorce before Clifford filed his action and that she would not be deterred by the suit against her.

Officers Ridicule Idea Fighting With Germs

Army officers at headquarters ridiculed today the idea that future wars could be fought by spreading disease germs from an airplane.

Brigadier-General Benjamin R. Keas, department surgeon, thought the plan amusing.

"This is nothing new. It was thought of during the World War when I was overseas, but there are many difficulties to be overcome," explained the general.

"If we could only regulate germs just as we regulate the firing of guns, the problem would be less perplexing. But you can't handle germs as you handle ammunition. We might spread germs through the air over a town attacked, but we cannot guarantee that these germs will live long enough to be very destructive.

"Germs might react more than we imagine."

HISS ALLEGED SLAYERS

Spectators Show Feeling Against James and Pearl Odell in Courtroom

By International News Service.

Rochester, N. Y., April 20.—Hisses from the spectators greeted James L. Odell, a former sailor, and his young wife, Pearl, when they entered court today, where Odell is on trial for the murder of Edward J. Kneip, who is alleged to have wronged the bride before her marriage.

The taking of testimony was begun today, the jury having been completed late Monday.

The hostile demonstration of the men and women spectators aroused Sheriff Weidermann, who declared that arrests would be made if it were repeated.

It was decided that Odell and his wife should be tried separately. The young woman probably will face a jury next month.

The prosecuting attorney emphasized the brutality of the murder in opening the state's case. He described how Kneip had been lured to a lonely spot on January 3, overpowered and then handcuffed to a tree. Afterward he was beaten and stabbed with a file.

ITALY AGREES WITH ALLIES

Will Participate in Collective Note Demanding That Germany Disarm

By International News Service.

Paris, April 20.—Italy has finally agreed to participate in a collective note by the allies to Germany demanding the immediate disarmament of the German army, it was announced by the Foreign Office today.

It had previously been reported from San Remo that Premier Millerand had proposed that France, Great Britain, Belgium and Italy unite in a joint demand upon Germany for disarmament.

Foch Attends Conference on Turkish Situation

San Remo, Italy, April 20.—Marshal Foch, General Sir Henry Wilson of the British General Staff, General Badoglio of the Italian General Staff, and Admiral Lord Beatty, of the British Navy, who are attending the meeting of the Inter-Allied Supreme Council, met and exchanged views on the necessary measures to restore order in the Orient, particularly in Turkey.

Turkish affairs, especially the draft of the allies' reply to President Wilson's recent Turkish note opposing any Turkish sovereignty of European soil, form the chief subject under discussion since the Supreme Council began its sessions yesterday.

It was officially announced that the Supreme Council had decided to summon the Turkish peace delegates to Paris to receive the text of the peace treaty on May 10.

The financial clauses of the Turkish settlement have been approved, it was also officially announced today. The borders of New Armenia and the future of Batum were discussed.

Hatton is in Russia on the Black Sea coast, a short distance north of the present Armenian frontier. It is an important shipping point for the vast quantities of oil produced in the nearby fields.

Former Secretary of Foreign Affairs A. J. Balfour was today summoned to San Remo to confer Lloyd George to take part in the deliberations.

In the reply to President Wilson's note which the allies have drafted, it is understood that reference is made as to why the entente cannot accept certain views on the future of Turkey which the American executive had presented. It was reported that further discussion of the Turkish peace treaty terms would be shelved temporarily until a reply to the allied reply is received from President Wilson.

The Premiers complain that the non-representation of the United States at the Supreme Council meeting will necessarily delay a final settlement of the Turkish problem. It is held that America's assent is necessary to render the treaty operative.

Millerand Reopens Dispute Over Germany

London, April 20.—"Despite the official desire to represent the first meeting of the Big Three (Premiers Lloyd George, Nitti and Millerand) as being marked by perfect harmony, it is a fact that Premier Millerand clouded it with a renewed attempt to make Germany the primary subject of discussion," said a San Remo dispatch to the Daily Express today.

"Premier Millerand's attitude on Germany is that a sincere interpretation of the duty of France makes the fault of the peace delegates notorious. The French Premier feels that Premier Nitti is ruled by the British line of conduct.

"As to the Near East the the British predominate in the occupying forces on the Dardanelli peninsula, while Turkey's hands will be tied by international surveillance of Turkish military forces, finances and commerce.

"An official veil of secrecy shrouds the conference of the Supreme Council and every obstacle is being placed in the way of the newspapers."

According to the Exchange Telegraph, the British oil controller has been summoned to San Remo to take part in the discussion.

ENFORCE PEACE IN RUHR

German Troops Are Charged With Atrocities in Quelling Revolt

By International News Service.

Dusseldorf, April 19, via Paris, April 20.—Peace has been restored in the Ruhr district, but only by force of arms. Most of the workmen, members of the former Red army, have returned to the mines and factories, but "action committees" are functioning. They are still maintaining an organization and declare that the workmen will be called to arms if the Reichswehr break the government agreement and advance through the Elberfeld-Barmen-Hagen district.

Most of the workers are bitter against the Berlin government, which they call reactionary. Some of them declare that they would prefer Bolshevism, although they personally disclaim being Bolshevists. Others say they would welcome intervention by the allies in the Ruhr district.

The workers accuse General Haase, commanding the Bavarian Reichswehr, of organized brutality during the advance into the Ruhr zone. It is alleged the Bavarians shot women and children at Hoiksun, near Hamm, and that twenty-two residents of Barmen were shot while trying to enter Essen. It is further charged that troops of the marine brigade cut the throats of some of their victims in the fighting around Essen.

ACCUSE 3 MORE IN SCIENCE CASE

Charge They Caused Suspension of Orders for Church Publications

Telegrams said to have been sent by directors of the Christian Science Church since last November were a feature of new litigation today in the Federal court of the fight between church leaders here.

After a brief hearing, the case was continued until May 6.

Three new defendants were as follows: Frederick A. Hanga, chairman, and James A. Hemingway, assistant chairman, of the Illinois Science Emergency Committee, and Arthur T. Fosberry of San Francisco. The trustees seek to enjoin these men from alleged conspiracy to injure the business of the publishing company. They are accused of having been instrumental in getting church organizations to suspend orders for the Christian Science publications.

C. A. Crane of the local branch of the Western Union, summoned as a witness, appeared at a preliminary hearing in behalf of Hanga, being obliged to give out dispatches filed with the company, on the ground that such communications were confidential. He was told by the court that the company would have to produce the telegrams, that in the court's opinion, the messages could not be regarded as confidential.

The three defendants today formally placed themselves within the jurisdiction of the Massachusetts Supreme Court and appeared represented by counsel.

The brief hearing in the forenoon was followed by a long conference between counsel for both sides and Judge Pierce, regarding a continuance. Attorney Whipple objected to a delay, saying that he believed the defendants had been active in propaganda harmful to the business of the publishing society and requested that they stipulate that in the interim they would not do anything to injure its business.

Former Judge Chase, for the defendants, replied that his clients were averse to making a stipulation against doing anything they thought was right; but added, "My clients are honorable gentlemen and I am sure that in this interval there will be no grounds for complaint against them."

Judge Pierce stated that at first he had been inclined to issue a temporary injunction, added that as the defendants were not within the jurisdiction of the court, he did not feel called upon to do so, adding that if anything happened in the interval to injure the business of the society, the defendants could be dealt with.

SAYS FLANAGAN VISITED WIFE

Former Detective, Testifying in Divorce Suit, Tells of Watching House

Dr. Frank J. Flanahan, who is suing his wife for divorce, naming Philip J. Crossman, visited her at their Jamaica Plain home after the divorce suit was filed, according to testimony introduced in the trial today.

Anthony J. Vaeder, formerly a detective employed by Mrs. Flanagan's counsel, testified that on the night of February 13, 1919, he saw Dr. and Mrs. Flanagan go into the Castleton street house together.

The witness said that he watched the house until 3 o'clock in the morning, up to which time no one had come out and all lights were extinguished. John B. Gregory, who was employed by Vaeder, testified that he watched the house earlier the same night, having been relieved by his employer.

Vaeder's testimony was suspended, during cross examination by Attorney John P. Feeney, in order that he might secure data bearing on the matter. A short time later, when Gregory refused to produce a book asked for by Attorney Feeney, the latter secured a writ under which the witness was forced to.

Miss Catherine Murphy of Commonwealth avenue, testified that Mrs. Flanagan had made her home with the witness since a year ago last February.

Disappointed because Mrs. Flanagan failed to take the stand, a large number of spectators left the court room.

Mrs. Flanagan attempted to commit suicide by jumping from a second story window, Roxbury, when the place was raided, according to the testimony of Daniel J. Delaney.

Cross-examined by Clarence P. Eldredge, counsel for the corespondent, Philip J. Crossman, and Joseph Lundy, representing Mrs. Flanagan, the witness gave a different version of the raid than previous witnesses.

On the night of the raid, November 27, 1918, he said that he and Mrs. Flanagan arrived at the home about 9 o'clock, and "sauntered around" until 12.20. At this hour Mrs. Flanagan, another woman and two men returned to the house and he went upstairs with them. Later, after they had gone in, Dr. Flanagan said: "Dan, I think she's been in the house long enough. I think I will go and see if she's coming home or not."

The only other conversation which they had about the raid, he stated, was when Dr. Flanagan told him he had heard his wife was coming home late and he wanted to see if it were true.

Asked if he saw Dr. Flanagan tear his wife's dress from her back, the witness replied that the woman had no dress on. The dress alleged to have been worn by Mrs. Flanagan, torn into ribbons, has been on exhibit during the trial. Delaney denied saying "Dig it, doctor; you've gone far enough."

COALITION PLEA TO CONGRESS

Boston Organization Urges Representatives to Ignore Fight for Irish Freedom

By International News Service.

Washington, April 20.—Organization of a movement opposed to the campaign in behalf of Irish freedom being carried on in the United States was made known to members of Congress today.

The Loyal Coalition, as the society is known, has petitioned every member of Congress, enclosing a letter sent to the Secretary of State, urging him to "resist the insidious propaganda" of the adovates of the Irish Republic, "which is not only antagonizing the British empire, but cutting the heart out of the national consciousness of this republic."

The petition states the Loyal Coalition, with offices in Boston, has been in existence for less than four weeks.

"The American people have been watching and they have been thinking," the letter signed by "Demarest Lloyd, president," said.

"The indications are that this spirit of amiable toleration has been exhausted by the advantage which has been taken of it in the promotion of schemes for the benefit of alien interests."

A protest against any further loans by this country to Great Britain or extending the present credit for three years is urged by the friends of Irish freedom in a plea circulated throughout the country today.

A statement issued declared that the money the United States loans to Britain is being used to maintain British troops in Ireland.

SEES DOWNFALL FOR CARRANZA

Alvarado Says Mexican Government Will Be Overthrown by 'Bloodless Revolution'

Washington, April 20.—The Carranza government will be overthrown in Mexico by a "bloodless revolution," according to general Salvado Alvarado, former general in the Carranza army, who is here today in act as representative of the revolting Mexican State of Sonora, and to attempt to secure recognition of the United States.

"The revolutionary movement is spreading rapidly in Mexico," General Alvarado said. "The people were promised reforms and progression by the Carranza government and they have tired waiting.

"I believe that the Carranza government will be overthrown by a bloodless revolution, but if we are forced to fight I feel that we can take care of ourselves."

Large numbers of Federal troops are joining the revolution, General Alvarado declared, and those who have not actually gone over to the revolutionists have refused to fight against their comrades who are in the uprising.

"If the revolution is successful we will immediately hold a general election—a legal election," General Alvarado said.

"No effort will be made to place General Obregon in office, although of course it is logical to presume that he might be the choice of the people."

The States of Sonora, Sinaloa, Zacatecas, Michoacan and Mayarit have successfully revolted, Alvarado declared, and others will soon join.

At the proper time General Alvarado stated that he would seek an interview with Secretary of State Colby.

BROOKLINE RENT FIGHT TONIGHT

Representative Hays to Explain Pending Legislation and Its Necessity

Town Hall, Brookline, tonight!

That's where all the tenants of Brookline who have interest in the rent situation will gather to hear Representative Martin Hays and other speakers tell of pending legislation and necessity for it.

A record breaking gathering in point of numbers is expected, for Brookline has been one of the sections hit hardest by profiteering in rents, according to residents of the town. Cases of outrageously big increases in rents in this section was the reason why Representativ Hays first drew his bill to remedy this evil and bring relief to tenants all over the State.

SELECTMEN FOR FAIR PLAY.

The meeting in the town hall was made possible through the courtesy of the selectmen of Brookline, who, despite the fact they have been criticized in some quarters for declining to appoint a powerless committee to fool their citizens into the delusion that they were coping with the situation, have a very real interest in seeing that rent problem equitably settled.

Before declining to appoint a committee, the Brookline Selectmen looked into the matter and learned that if they appoint a committee it could have no power to really aid the public under the present laws. So, rather than attempt to pull the wool over the public's eyes, they refused to appoint a powerless committee. That they have been criticized for their action indicates that the real conditions are not thoroughly understood.

The controversy which has arisen in Brookline over this angle of the rent situation should be an added reason for a big attendance tonight on the part of Brookline citizens.

The matter of rent legislation comes before the joint committee on judiciary tomorrow for action. This committee has had the Hays bill and other suggested measures under consideration, and upon its decision rests the future welfare of the tenants of the Commonwealth.

WILL BARE RENT SCANDAL.

Plans for the big mass meeting and torchlight parade to convince the General Court that the public demands relief are progressing steadily. Representatives of organizations which intend to participate and have not already notified the Rent Editor to that effect are requested to do so without further delay.

Interesting disclosures which will throw surprising light on some angles of the real estate situation in Boston are expected to develop at this mass meeting. Of exceptional interest, too, in the face of the declaration of several members of the General Court that they do not believe the rent situation can be remedied, will be the speech of a prominent visiting official of another city who proved the feasibility of settling the rent question and who settled some 10,000 complaints in two months, forcing the profiteers out of town.

Want Banks to Bar Loans to Rent Profiteers

Lawrence, April 20.—Charging that the banks and banking institutions are responsible to a large degree for the existing conditions in rent gouging in Lawrence, the Dyers and Finishers' Union passed a resolution which was mailed to all banks requesting that they refrain from loaning money to "real estate sharks" who use the money for speculative purposes. The resolution favors the loan of money for building purposes, but points out that the continuous turning over of property is excessive in this city.

Cal-o-cide FOOT REMEDY

Sensible Method of Removing Wrinkles

If crow's feet appear prematurely about the eyes, apply a lotion made by dissolving an ounce of saxolite in a half pint of witch hazel. This is the best, quickest-acting treatment known. It is tends to restore normal conditions. It tightens and strengthens the skin, likewise the underlying tissue, the loosening and softening of which are the chief causes of wrinkles. Rub the lotion well into the skin, first one side the same direction, but, by improving capacity, massage it deep to bring a healthy color to the face.

The same solution, acting as it does, naturally affects not only every wrinkle, and line, but banishes dark circles and chin, as well. When your face wears a tired expression, bathe it with this refreshing, revivifying liquid. Will the druggist you want powdered saxolite.—Advertisement.

JUDGE PRESIDES IN OVERALLS

Lawyers' Smiles Fail to Disturb N. Y. Justice; Movement Spreading Rapidly

New York, April 20.—County Judge Burt Jay Humphrey of Queens Borough was clad in gray khaki as he presided in his court here. He let it be known that big stiffs was a testimonial of his having joined the "overall rebellion," and the broad smiles with which he was greeted in court by lawyers who practiced there for cases and have known him as one of the best men in Queens, leaped him for a whirl.

"I want to do what I can toward lowering clothing prices," said Judge Humphrey. "I believe by this idea I people will wear clothing of this kind and give woolen prices time to become adjusted, it will reduce clothing prices wherever there has been profiteering."

From all over the country today came reports of accession in large numbers to the "overall rebellion," and the "overall-and-own-lunch" movement, just instituted as a kind of side issue to the revolt against high clothing prices, is also becoming popular.

The Cheese Club is arranging for a parade down Fifth avenue on Friday, in which thousands of men and women, clad in khaki, denim, gingham and notched clothing of the ordinary variety, will appear in protest against high prices.

"You don't have to buy even overalls at $6 a suit, if you don't want to in order to join the movement," said an official of the Cheese Club today. "The aim then is to buy no regular citizen's clothing until prices come down. Wear old clothes —any old clothes, the more patches the better."

HYDE PARK CLUB IN LIVE.

Probably the first club in this State to fall in line with the overalls movement is the Bachelor Club of Hyde Park, of which P. Joseph Reiley is president. The members adopted resolutions in favor of wearing overalls until conditions are normal and the present high prices of clothing reduced.

"The Old Clothes Club" was formed after the seventy-five members pledged themselves to start the movement in this State. The members here, for the purpose of introducing the movement in Hyde Park, are arranging for an "overalls" party and dance to take place Tuesday evening, April 27, in Faiim Hall, Cleary square, Hyde Park.

MAKERS SCOUT DRESS PLAN.

New York, April 20.—There is no fear of the overall and gingham dress fad becoming a serious problem to the manufacturers of wearing apparel, according to a statement issued by the Associated Dress Industries of America, the national chamber of commerce of the dress industry.

According to executive director David N. Moressohn, the overall movement is an absurd attempt to solve an economic problem, which has presented itself to every trade and industry in the United States and one which is brought about by conditions over which no one has had control.

STUDENTS DON OVERALLS.

Middletown, N. Y., April 20.—The overall campaign has started here. A number of the junior class of the high school appeared in the garb today. Others soon followed, and it is stated the girls proposed to wear gingham dresses.

'HOUSE' ATTACHE WON OVER.

Washington, April 20.—The "wear overalls movement started in Congress Saturday by Representative Upshaw, Democrat, Georgia, appeared to have won over only one convert. A House doorkeeper appeared in blue denim.

ONTARIO BACKS PLAN.

St. Thomas, Ont., April 20.—Canada has become infected with the overall cloth movement to reduce the cost of clothing, and clubs have been organized here and in several nearby towns. Three hundred employes of the Michigan Central railroad have joined the local club. In Wallaceburg, Ont., an overall club was organized with a large membership.

TORONTO WEARS OLD CLOTHES.

Toronto, April 20.—An old clothes league is proving extremely popular than the overall club here, in view of the fact that retailers boosted the price of 75-cent overalls to $2.50. The movement to don denim and gingham or wear old clothes until prices fall is sweeping this section.

WILLIAMS STUDENTS READY.

North Adams, April 20.—Students of Williams College will begin wearing overalls as part of the low price movement. About one hundred are already outfitted with blue striped garments, which they will wear at chapel, in classrooms and on the streets. Others are awaiting the arrival of more overalls. Members of the faculty are expected to join in the movement.

MAYOR OF STAMFORD JOINS.

Stamford, Ct., April 20.—Mayor John J. Treat endorsed the overall or work clothes movement, and advised Stamford people to apply the same economic thought behind it to other commodities.

An overall wearing movement was started in the Yale & Towne plant, and practically the entire force of 2,000 employes enlisted.

GARY, INDIANA, GAINS 8,542 IN TEN YEARS

Washington, April 20.—Preliminary population figures issued by the Census Bureau today are as follows:

Newburgh, N. Y., 1920 population, 30,272; increase since 1910, 467. Gary, Ind., 1920 population, 55,544; increase, since 1910, 8,542. Dunkirk, N. Y., 1920 population, 17,316; increase, since 1910, 2,115.

ZUKOR BUYS $400,000 RUSSIAN ROYAL JEWELS

Paris, April 20.—Adolph Zukor, the New York film producer, is on the way to New York aboard the Mauretania carrying a pearl necklace valued at 2,000,000 francs (normally $400,000), and believed to have been formerly owned by one of the murdered Romanoff princesses.

Overalls Invade Staid Old Boston

Frances Aldrich of Brookline and Horace Banister of Boston, advance guard in Boston of the overalls crusade that is sweeping the country.

DEATH PARTS IMMIGRANTS

Father Dies, Leaving Family of Six Without Support; They May Be Barred Out

One of the most pathetic cases in the annals of the local Immigration Bureau came to light today in the death in a Providence hospital of Manoel Amaral of Irvington, Cal. With Amaral in the hospital were his wife and five children, the oldest seven, who had just come to this country with him from their home in the Azores.

Amaral had lived in this country, with frequent visits home, for twenty-five years. Eight years ago he married Amelia Souza of the Island of Horta. About three months ago he went back, broke up his home in the Azores, and brought his family to this country to live. On the voyage over two of the children contracted measles. In order not to separate the little family the authorities sent them all to the hospital. While there the father contracted pneumonia.

The tragic situation of the family is puzzling the immigration authorities. While no barrier existed to their entry into the country while Amaral was alive and while they have a home waiting for them on the West coast, they are without means of support. Pending consultation with relatives both in the Azores and in California the family will be brought here and held at the immigration station.

MISS WHITNEY BRIDE OF PHILADELPHIA MAN

New York, April 20.—The most notable and largely attended wedding of the Spring season took place when Miss Flora Whitney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney, became the bride of Roderick Tower, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charlesmagne Tower of Philadelphia. The wedding took place at St. Bartholomew's Church.

SLAYER SETS FIRE TO HIMSELF IN CELL

Laurel, Del., April 20.—Ollie Morris, aged 19, who killed his aged father, tried to burn himself to death in his steel cage in the county jail. He piled his clothes and bed linen in a heap and then set fire to them. He was badly burned and will probably die.

The pain was more than the youth could bear. He screamed. Sheriff Johnson and his deputies were away. Mrs. Johnson and another woman ran to Morris' cell, and dragged the youth from the fire.

"FOUR CHILDREN HAD WHOOPING COUGH"

"Father John's Medicine Brought Them Through It Nicely" Their Mother Writes

"Last August my four children all started with the whooping cough," says Mrs. D. Vachon, of Somersworth, N. H. "The only thing I gave them was Father John's Medicine and in four weeks they were all better. Everybody was surprised to see how quickly they got rid of it. I am sending a picture of my oldest boy. He is four years old now, and since I have been giving him Father John's Medicine he is getting fat every day." (Signed) Mrs. D. Vachon, 1 King's Lane, Somersworth, N. H.

A cough or cold, particularly in children, should never be neglected. That is why careful mothers keep a bottle of Father John's Medicine in the house all the time and begin giving it to their children promptly whenever they have a cold or rough. They have found also that it is of great value as a body-builder because it is all pure, wholesome nourishment and is guaranteed free from alcohol or dangerous drugs.

Putting a crimp in old H. C. L. with a pair of blue overalls and a hayseed straw hat is one way of calling public attention to the exorbitant price of clothing, particularly when Miss Frances Aldrich of Brookline and Horace Banister of Boston stroll through the crowded shopping district clad in the economical uniform of the country harvest.

Starting at White's Studio on Tremont street, the couple soon drew a crowd of shoppers who probably had spent their morning searching in vain for garments which a normal income could afford.

Miss Aldrich, the first girl in Boston to start the fashion, declares that she will wear overalls until the high cost of living comes down.

"If other people follow the fashion," Miss Aldrich says, "they will save money for themselves, and put a dent in big clothing prices."

HOUSTON OPPOSES $30,000,000,000 LOAN

Washington, April 20.—Opposition to the issue of further government obligations bearing full exemptions from taxation was definitely set forth by Secretary of the Treasury Houston. In a letter to Senator Frelinghuysen, Secretary Houston disapproved the Senate bill for refunding Liberty Bonds by one consolidated loan of $30,000,000,000, maturing in fifty years and carrying substantially complete tax exemption.

CONSUMERS LEAGUE TO HEAR NORMAN HAPGOOD

The list of speakers for the meeting of the Consumers' League at Lorimer Hall, Tremont Temple, Thursday evening, includes Norman Hapgood, John H. Walker and John Graham Brooks. The first named will speak on "Danish Co-operatives," the second on "Miners Co-operative in Illinois," and the last named on "Co-operation and the Consumers' League."

CHARLES MONAHAN, 14, VANISHES FROM HOME

Fourteen-year-old Charles Monahan of No. 80 Bolton street, West Cambridge, has run away from home according to his father, who has asked the police help locate him. The boy left home last Saturday evening on an errand. His relatives cannot account for his absence. He is five feet three inches tall, weighs 118 pounds, and when he left home wore short blue trousers, gray coat and a dark cap.

STORIES OF HOPELESS SUFFERERS WHO GET WELL

Uricsol—Means Uric Acid Solvent.

There are experiences in every one's life when problems, seemingly beyond solution, confront warning suddenly find the remedy. "Uricsol" has figured in countless cases of this sort. No experience could have been more hopeless than that of Mr. E. R. Moulton with his son. He tells the story best in his own words. "My son was seven years of age when taken with rheumatic fever. His attacks were intermittent until fourteen years old, each attack leaving him in a more crippled condition. His last attack, about two years ago, lasted about one year and left him in an absolutely helpless condition, suffering great pain in legs and arms, particularly neck, absolutely stiff. His knees and legs were drawn up to his body so closely that it was impossible to place your finger between upper part of legs and knees. Lower part of legs swollen and painful, could not put on shoes.

"Dr. Geo. Carroll Smith, of Boston, at well as several other prominent physicians, pronounced the case as one of rheumatic arthritis, and hopelessly incurable.

After taking "Uricsol" for four or five days, the pain began to leave and appetite returned, also could sleep. Prior to that time could sleep scarcely any. He could not move in bed at all; it was necessary for some one to turn him over in bed five or six times of a night. When relieved of pain he began to show tendency to move legs forward; next effort was to assist himself by holding on to the table and chairs and trying to walk. We then purchased him a pair of crutches. In August, six months after, he could walk with crutches without assistance, and now can walk one hundred yards without crutches. Appetite improving all the time and is gaining strength; stiffness in joints is improving all the time, entirely without pain. Used or tried Osteopathy, Electricity, Massage, etc., without any benefit.

"I feel that 'URICSOL' has entirely relieved my son of all suffering, and will be most happy to have you refer any one to me regarding this case of my son."

Mr. Moulton resides at 148 Western Avenue, Lynn, Mass. His experience with his son's case is substantially the story in thousands of cases. "Uricsol" has truly struck the shackles from thousands of rheumatic sufferers.

And there is nothing magic about its healing. "Uricsol" follows the accepted opinions of the world's greatest authorities on rheumatism. "Uricsol" is simply a saline solution combined with alkalies. It dissolves Uric Acid and eliminates it from the system.

Uric Acid, of course, results from fermentation of the waste materials in the system. Sudden chilling from drafts, dampness and cold causes the precipitation of the acid into crystals which lodge in the joints, tissues and mucous membranes.

"Uricsol" rectifies this condition, simply and swiftly. Write the URICSOL CHEMICAL COMPANY, 46 Cornhill, Boston, for valuable literature on how Uricsol helps rheumatism. "Uricsol" is on sale everywhere, $1.25 a bottle.—Adv.

MRS. MARQUARD SEEKS DIVORCE

Wife of '$11,000 Beauty' Charges 'Rube' of Baseball Fame With Desertion

Chicago, April 20.—Mrs. Richard W. Marquard, wife of "Rube" Marquard, one-time $11,000 beauty of the New York Giants, wishes to be credited with a "put out" against her husband.

In a bill for divorce filed here, Mrs. Marquard, known on the stage as Blossom Seeley, charges desertion.

Mr. and Mrs. Marquard were married in San Francisco in 1912 and separated in 1918. There is one child, Richard W., in custody of the mother. Since the separation Mrs. Marquard has claimed Chicago as her home.

Mrs. Marquard was, before her marriage to the pitcher, the wife of Joseph Cohen, known on the stage as Joseph Kane. He divorced her in 1913, naming Marquard as co-respondent. After the divorce Cohen sued Marquard for $26,000, alleging alienation of the affections of Mrs. Cohen. Cohen obtained a judgment of $6,000 against Marquard. It was later reported that the baseball star paid $3,000 in cash and gave a note for the balance.

HAVANA TO HEAR CARUSO SING AT $10,000 A NIGHT

New York, April 20.—Those who speak of the "golden notes of Enrico Caruso," little realize how literally they speak the truth. Caruso announced that he has accepted an engagement calling for twelve appearances in Havana at $10,000 a night. A certified check for $120,000 was brought here by Senor Bracale, impresario of the National Theatre in Havana.

MME. LIPKOWSKA TRIUMPHS

Russian Artist Returns to Hub After Absence of Eight Years

FREDERICK JOHNS.

One of the most charming and fascinating personalities of the music world returned to Boston when Lydia Lipkowska gave a song recital in Symphony Hall.

That after an absence of eight years the beautiful Russian would be remembered to such an extent, that Symphony Hall was filled to capacity, was in itself a remarkable tribute, but that the enthusiasm would eclipse anything that I have witnessed this year was not to be expected.

It was after 11 p. m. when Lipkowska finished her last encore and the big audience departed reluctantly.

The Russian varied the sombre plan of song recitals by having the platform decorated by a florist, and an oriental rug to cover the stage where she stands. She wore two marvelous gowns, and with one of them the famed silver wig. In person she has only mellowed with the passing of seasons, to gaze at her is still a delight.

ARDUOUS PROGRAM.

Her program was an arduous one, ranging from Italian operatic airs through French and Russian songs to English ballads. In Rossini's "Bel Raggio" she astounded the congregation by taking an F sharp. In altissimo, the highest note I ever heard produced by mortal throat. And she took it with an ease and beauty which was most remarkable.

There is no coloratura soprano now before the public, with the exception of Galli Curci and Evelyn Scotney, who could equal Mme. Lipkowska in the perfection of technique, in quality of tone and in elegance of delivery. There is none who combines this with the poise and grace of stage manners, the skill in histrionism and the darling taste in costume.

Lipkowska was always a picture, every movie a thing of beauty, and her personality impressed itself upon the public in the most extraordinary way. Had she sung half as well she would have had a success; as it was, it was a triumph.

Jacques Hoffman, the skillful and admirable violinists of the Boston Symphony, played two groups and two obligatos with fine taste. Alfred de Voto accompanied him. Mme. Lipkowska was accompanied by Alexander de Markoff, a Russian pianist and composer, one of whose beautiful songs she interpolated in her program.

"FIFTY-FIFTY" PLEASES AT SHUBERT

"Fifty-Fifty," a musical comedy in a prologue and two acts, by nine different persons as enumerated in the program, was given at the Shubert Theatre yesterday, starring Herbert Corthell. Among the authors of its being are named Arthur Swanstrom and Carey Morgan, composers of the music and lyrics. The book is said to be adapted from one by William Gillette.

For a piece besprinkled every few minutes by a solo, duet or chorus, there is more plot to "Fifty-Fifty" than one would expect. It hinges on the device of young Kenneth Patterson to turn an honest penny when hard up by letting out rooms in his uncle's palatial New York home during the latter's absence.

The residents are mostly little dears from a theatrical company, who keep their secrets at their lodgings and spend all their spare time at home. Into this Eden strays Gwendolin Anderson Crosby, impersonated by Mr. Corthell.

Unluckily, Mrs. Crosby and Daughter Crosby are along, so that Napoleon's philandering is full of pitfalls and artful dodgings, which furnish the comedy.

The first act is the best, with many amusing situations. Mr. Corthell, who is gifted with a true vein of comedy, made the most out of the rather feeble dialogue, and kept the audience almost continually laughing. He has real versatility and rang many changes even in the limited scope of a girl and music show.

Others in the cast contributed to the enjoyment of the audience, among them Claire Grenville as Mrs. Crosby; Rollin Grimes, Jr., as Kenneth; Doris Arden as Claire Crosby; Ruth Weis as Fluffy La Grange; Dorothy Quinette, Jack Pollard, Arthur Allen, Helene Renee Gosman, Harry Carroll and Harold Attridge.

The costumes were brilliant in the extreme, and many of them lovely in color and design. They show in a marked degree the tendency of the latest word from Paris toward hips and waist lines. The skirts are very full, the style very fluffy-ruffly, and the waists very sophisticated, being, as the poet sang, not much in front "an' something less than 'arf o' that behind."

Miss Wells, in an Oriental number, wore a striking gown of orange chiffon with tunic of leopard skin, and in the last act a charming skirt of many layers of chiffon in shades of orange, henna and black. Miss Arden had one very lovely dress of chiffon in two shades of blue, green, mauve and old rose; among Miss Grenville's "creations" was a handsome gown of flowered georgette on a black ground over white satin.

The settings were effective, and the music appeared to satisfy every want of the audience.

UPHAM'S CORNER STRAND—An exciting chase after a notorious international crook and the adventures and romances that follow in its train forms the theme of the latest Maurice Tourneur production, "My Lady's Garter," the photoplay attraction at the Upham's Corner Strand. Jacques Futrelle wrote the original story. Robert Warwick was seen in his latest production. "Those Who Are Man," together with the Strand News Weekly and a clever comedy.

Plays That Remain

COLONIAL THEATRE—Fred Stone in "Jack O' Lantern" began his final week at the Colonial Theatre yesterday. With the remaining seven performances of this attraction to be given, all musical comedy records of Boston have been broken.

HOLLIS STREET THEATRE—At the Hollis Street Theatre yesterday "Bab" started its tenth week with two such crowded houses as only the combination of the holiday spirit of pleasure-seeking and a medium of pleasure-giving can bring.

TREMONT THEATRE—"Monsieur Beaucaire" began its third week at the Tremont Theatre last evening. Looming forth as one of the most notable offerings in the theatre within the last few generations, the Messager-Tarkington musical gem is winning the enthusiastic commendation from Bostonians it deserves.

PLYMOUTH THEATRE—"Not So Long Ago," Arthur Richman's charming comedy of romantic New York in the time of Grant's presidency, began its second week at the Plymouth Theatre yesterday.

ARLINGTON THEATRE—The last five performances of Mary Young and John Craig and their company of excellent players in "The Outrageous Mrs. Palmer" take place at the Arlington Theatre Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights and Saturday afternoon.

TREMONT TEMPLE—"In Old Kentuckey," the film edition of Charles T. Dazey's famous melodrama, began its third week at Tremont Temple yesterday with capacity business, which indicated plainly that this old time favorite has not lost its hold on popular approval.

WILBUR THEATRE—"39 East" began the last two weeks of its engagement at the Wilbur Theatre yesterday with audiences which showed by size and enthusiasm that this romance has lost none of its deserved popularity.

Coming Events

COLONIAL THEATRE—The attraction at the Colonial Theatre, beginning next Monday, April 26, will be John Corfu's musical comedy, "Listen Lester," the engagement being limited to three weeks only. It comes to Boston after a full season's run last year in New York and ten weeks in Chicago.

WILBUR THEATRE—"Oui Madam," a musical comedy, featuring Georgia O'Ramey, will begin its Boston engagement at the Wilbur Theatre, Monday evening, May 3.

ARLINGTON THEATRE—"Susan Lenox," the dramatization of the famous story by David Graham Phillips, with Alma Tell as Susan, comes to the Arlington Theatre, beginning Wednesday night, April 28. Monday and Tuesday nights the theatre will be closed for dress rehearsals.

ORPHEUM THEATRE — A real operatic treat was offered the patrons of Loew's Orpheum Theatre yesterday for the Artcraft Revue. A liberal number of selections from the world's famous operas were given by a company of eight, the voices powerful and delightfully pleasing voices. Arthur J. Finn & Co. offered a bombardment of laughs in their military travesty, "Hippipes in the Trenches." Other good acts on the bill were Wiles Shaw and Lester Bernard, in their hilarious skit, "The Mosquito Trust;" Jessie Reed, in "Syncopation Supreme;" Sansone and Delila, in a rare athletic surprise; and Emmett and Moore, in a song and patter number.

RAE SAMUELS IS KEITH'S HEADLINER

Rae Samuels, in a program of popular character songs, is dividing the headline place on Keith's bill this week with Eddie Vogt & Co., in a one-act musical comedy, "The Love Shop." Miss Samuels, billed as the "blue streak of vaudeville," has a program of songs full of jazz and dash which she puts over in a manner that exemplifies the "blue streak" of her description. Miss B. Walker, at the piano, aided her materially.

Eddie Vogt, lean and angular, is a breezy sort of person who radiates humor in his characterization of a smart New York "Johnnie" from Kokomo. There is a semblance of a plot to his act, and a gorgeous display of gowns and lingerie on the part of his chorus. He is well supported by Grace and Harry Ellsworth, Nan Hopestill, Dorothy Southern and Jack C. Claire.

Perry Bronson and Winnie Baldwin in "Visions of 1970," what may happen to us in fifty years from now, introduced a series of novelties which are interesting, though somewhat impossible. Miss Baldwin appeared very favorably in her several imitations.

Arthur Wanzer and Maybelle Palmer, in a sidewalk skit, "She's Hard to Get Along With," had some bright comedy, as might be expected when an ardent advocate of women's rights and reform meets up with a real feminizer.

J. C. Nugent, the author comedian, in a monologue, kept a rapid fire of subtle humor aimed right at the audience. A great deal of it was too subtle and fast for the audience, but he was well received. S. and A. Conrad, with a cycle of character songs and dances set to syncopation; Rome and Cullen, a pair of clever eccentric dancers; Anderson and Yvel, roller skate wizards; Everett's novelty monkey circus and the movies of current events completed a well-balanced bill.

SCOLLAY SQUARE OLYMPIA—It is not often that a callooned reviewed is driven to the use of superlatives in commenting on a photodrama, but after viewing "The Virgin of Stamboul," which was shown last night at the Scollay Square Olympia, it is found necessary to sound its praises in no uncertain terms. Some thousands of people participate in the drama, chief among whom are Priscilla Dean as the the Virgin of Stamboul, Wheeler Oakman, Wallace Berry, E. A. Warren, Edward Burns, Eugenie Fordo and Ethel Ritchie.

GORDON'S OLYMPIA—Vivian Martin, as the pampered pet of society, marries a country boy whom she thinks she loves. How he fights to win her love, and how though fighting back, she finally discovers that she does love him, makes a pretty story which is absorbingly unfolded in "Husbands and Wives," at Gordon's Olympia this week. An excellent bill of vaudeville, headed by Burt Gordon and Jean Ford, in their 1920 sensation, "Recital Classique," was presented.

GLOBE THEATRE — Louis B. Mayer's latest feature, Mildred Harris Chaplin in pictures, styled "The Inferior Sex," was shown at the popular Lowe's Globe Theatre yesterday for the first time in Boston. Vivian Rich in "Would You Forgive" was also shown. For the last half of the week David Griffith's Superspectacle, "The Fall of Babylon," will be shown.

WALDRON'S CASINO—Burlesque as presented by the managers of attractions playing Columbia wheel houses is without doubt one of the most popular forms of amusement before the public today. Barney Gerard, whose coaching of John Craig, Mary Young and Harry Gribble, There was a crowded house, friendly in its enthusiasm, that score and dialogue fully justified.

"Patsy" is the twentieth century diminutive for Cleopatra, played by Walter J. Hamburger, '21. The author of the piece are as follows: Text, C. Colemaic Carven, '21; music, William T. Hedlund, '20; David M. Minton, Jr., '22; Frank D. Gage, '22; Joseph H. Randall, '21; Samuel Chamberlain, '20, and Charles J. Muller, special student.

Mr. Chamberlain, Roger Hayward, '21, and Charles T. Wilson, '20, designed the scenery, and the costumes were by Miss Dorothea Brownell, '20, and others.

Many were the special musical numbers and picturesque scenes, among them may be named the Egyptian ballet, "Nuit d'Osiris," designed and directed by Virgina Tanner, and danced by twenty-two students, some of them impersonating girls. Mr. Hamburger in the title role gave pleasure with his solo, "That's What's Been Puzzling Me" and in a duet, "How to Vamp," sung with Perkins.

"Patsy" will be repeated this evening.

GAYETY—There is a reason for the two crowded houses which greeted the Sporting Widows at the Gayety, yesterday, where they opened a week's engagement. It is one of the most attractive shows to come to the popular playhouse. The production is new throughout in costumes, scenery and electrical effects.

MALDEN AUDITORIUM — "Erstwhile Susan" scored such a tremendous hit on the legitimate stage that thousands have awaited its stock release for an opportunity to witness it. Yesterday the Temple Players received this delightful comedy-drama at the Malden Auditorium, and it was received with enthusiasm.

PATSY, TECH PLAY, PROVES BIG HIT

"Patsy," the twenty-second annual Tech show, scored a pronounced hit at the Arlington Theatre, where it was produced under the personal coaching of John Craig, Mary Young and Harry Gribble. There was a crowded house, friendly in its enthusiasm, that score and dialogue fully justified.

"Patsy" is the twentieth century diminutive for Cleopatra, played by Walter J. Hamburger, '21. The author of the piece are as follows: Text, C. Colemaic Carven, '21; music, William T. STOMACH UPSET?

Get at the Real Cause—Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real causes of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets arouse the liver in a soothing, healing way. When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, away goes indigestion and stomach troubles.

Have you a bad taste, coated tongue, poor appetite, a lazy, don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, trouble with indigestible foods? Take Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color. They do the work without griping, cramps or pain.

Take one or two at bedtime for quick relief. Eat what you like. 10c and 25c

HOW TO JUDGE A WOMAN BY HER HAIR

There is real common sense in just noticing whether the hair is well kept in spite of a woman's neatness, or good taste. If you are one of the few who try to make the most of your hair, remember that it is not advisable to wash the hair with any cleanser made for all purposes, but always use some good shampoo. You can enjoy the very best by getting some canthrox from your druggist, dissolve a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water. This makes a full cup of shampoo liquid, enough so it is easy to apply it to all the hair instead of just the top of the head. Dandruff, excess oil, and dirt are dissolved and entirely disappear. Your hair will be so fluffy that it will look much heavier than it is. Its luster and softness will also delight you, while the stimulated scalp gains the health which insures hair growth. —Advertisement.

BONUS TO START ON JANUARY 1

Soldiers' Bill Will Be taken Up in House in Two Weeks

Washington, April 20.—Soldier bonus legislation is to be taken up in the House under a special rule providing for its passage in the form in which presented from the Ways and Means Committee, within two weeks, under plans being made by House Republican leaders.

After conferences between the Republican steering committee and Republican members of the Ways and Means Committee it was decided to have bonus legislation carry provisions for both a cash bonus and land settlement, interchangeable or selective, according to the desire of the beneficiary.

The cash bonus is to be $1 a day for former service men who served sixty days or over. The payments are to be made quarterly, effective beginning January 1, 1921. Officers, enlisted men, occupying clerical positions, and drawing civilian pay, shipyard and lumber camp workers, nurses and yeomen (F) will not be eligible to the bonus.

By the plan more than 1,000,000 are to be eliminated from the benefits of the bonus.

The necessary revenues to meet the cash bonus payments are to be raised through a gross sales tax of one-half of one per cent. on all sales including the "turnovers" or resales.

The land settlement plan of bonus provides preference for former service men in locating claims, cash payments of $1.50 a day for work in making the location ready for cultivation and facilities for borrowing money on the claim with ample time for such loans to mature.

THIEVES LOOT HOME OF SHOWMAN AT CANAAN, N. H.

Canaan, N. H., April 20.—The biggest theft ever brought to light in this vicinity has been discovered at the Summer home of S. J. Young in the east section of the town. Almost the entire furnishings of the house had been carried away. There is no new to the thieves. Mr. Young had been away through the Winter as agent for a theatrical stock company.

Irish Loan $500,000 Oversubscribed

Whitman and East Bridgewater are the latest towns to come to the assistance of the directors of the American Commission on Irish Independence in disposing of bond certificates. The deep interest manifested by the people of these sections augurs well for raising of a substantial amount of money from the sale of the bonds.

A mass meeting of the friends of the Irish cause will be held in Whitman Sunday evening, beginning at 8 o'clock, at which prominent Boston speakers will discuss the bond issue, and another gathering take place in East Bridgewater Sunday afternoon.

The Rev. Phillip J. O'Donnell, rector of St. James Church avenue, Boston, bought $200 worth of bonds. He will attend the meeting of the State Council of the Friends of Irish Freedom at the American House, Hanover street, tonight, when plans will be mapped out for enlarging and strengthening the scope of the organization's usefulness in combatting British propaganda in Boston against Irish independence.

State President John F. Harrigan, who will preside at the meeting, will outline the success achieved in cities and towns in the State by the Irish bond certificate drive, which will close Sunday with a series of jubilation gatherings in and about Boston.

To date the quota of $1,000,000 allotted to Massachusetts has been oversubscribed by approximately $500,000, which is gratifying to President Eamon de Valera of the Irish Republic.

Stirring addresses by former Mayor John F. Fitzgerald of Boston and Miss Minnie Mulry of Revere in the Stoughton Town Hall resulted in the sale of several thousand dollars' worth of bonds to citizens of that town. The committee in charge of the drive reports that the quota allotted will be oversubscribed by the end of the week.

Mr. Hearst for Progressive Principles Rather Than Particular Candidates

MY position in regard to the presidential nomination is exactly what it was five weeks ago when I outlined it in these columns.

I am more anxious to advance progressive principles than the candidacy of any individual.

It seems to me that the best and surest way to advance progressive principles is to endeavor to secure the nomination of men of genuine progressive thought on one or both of the old party tickets, and I have been conducting my papers with that object in view.

I hope to see a Lincoln Republican nominated on the Republican ticket and a Jeffersonian Democrat nominated on the Democratic ticket—men whose names and whose records are sufficient to inspire the confidence of the people in a popular administration and a genuinely American administration as the result of the election.

If the nomination of such sound and sincere progressives and genuine Americans cannot be achieved, then the true progressives of the country would seem to me to be devoid of proper spirit, proper principle and proper patriotism if they did not form a new party to defy and defeat the old parties, which the forces of reaction and of privilege would seem wholly to control.

Senator Johnson is perfectly frank and open in his candidacy and wholly courageous and sincere in the declaration of his principles.

I am equally frank and open in stating that I would like to see such a man as Senator Johnson nominated on the Republican ticket, and that I think more of principles than I do of politics.

I would like equally to see such a man nominated on the Democratic ticket.

And it seems to me that genuine Democrats should put forth an earnest effort to make their party genuinely Democratic and to free it from the control of petty dictators, squalid machines and sordid interests.

Certainly the presidency in a democracy and in an alleged Democratic party should not become the personal possession of a presidential family and be made a matter of succession, as in an imperial or royal house.

The election which is approaching is a momentous one, and the main matter of concern for any loyal American citizen should be the preservation of our democracy and the maintenance of our American institutions and our popular form of government.

The importance of these great issues makes mere party matters unworthy of consideration.

If conditions make the creation of a new party necessary, I am willing as a progressive to go with that party and give my best efforts for its success.

But meanwhile, as an American citizen, with only the best interests of America at heart, I shall endeavor to secure the nomination of men of popular, progressive thought, both on the Republican ticket and on the Democratic ticket—even especially on the Democratic ticket, first, because I have been a Democrat as far as party alignment goes, and, second, because I believe it is peculiarly the mission of the Democratic party to represent the people and the popular interests.

It is only when the Democratic party wholly loses its true character and becomes the instrument of autocratic financial powers or the chattel of a petty tyrant that the creation of a new party, a genuinely popular party, becomes necessary.

WILLIAM RANDOLPH HEARST.

(From the Brooklyn Daily Times, March 28, 1920.)

NEW NATIONAL PARTY ORGANIZES; DRAFTS HEARST FOR PRESIDENT; MOVEMENT ON IN SIX STATES

Greenpoint Man Made Temporary Chairman

BROOKLYN IS LEADING SPIRIT

Name Adopted Is 'American Constitutional Party'

Delegates representing twenty Assembly districts in Brooklyn, Queens and Manhattan as well as sections of Long Island and New York, met yesterday in this borough and formed the nucleus of an organization which they intend to spread to every part of the country, with the avowed purpose of running William Randolph Hearst for President of the United States.

A temporary organization was effected, which sole text as its head Thomas J. Maloney of Greenpoint, the president of the National Americanization League. Miss Berlynd Durham and Mrs Katharine Dolan as vice-presidents, Thomas Kohlweiss of Queens as secretary; James J. Barry of Long Island as treasurer, and a committee of 100 which is to begin at once the work of organizing in six States.

The founders of this movement have decided to call themselves the American Constitutional party and they have adopted as an emblem to go upon the ballot "a cocked hat," typical of the American Revolutionary period. Their motto is to be: "Restore the Constitution and put the government back in the hands of the people."

Hearst, who is to be the pioneer of this movement, is the man for the job, and they are going ahead to secure his nomination and election to petitions demanding that he come out and head the ticket, and make the race for presidency at the head of the party.

The movement is said to have a outcome if a petition which was circulated several days ago by Julius B. Thomas, formerly a leader of the Progressive party in Brooklyn, and at one time editor of the Progressive Nonpartisan, official organ of the party in Kings, to Colonel Roosevelt in 1912.

WHY APPEAL TO HEARST.

In his appeal to Hearst which was quoted widely throughout the country, Thomas said:

"We ask you, Mr. Hearst to take our cause, the cause of the people have suffered from experience, that the old parties are only two names, the old parties are both bound that the casting their command like political party under the Democratic or Republican chart, and guides over to the ports of special privileges and private greed.

"We turn with the magnificent machinery of publicity at your command, to come out and show how, through unpardonable neglect of civic duty, the people have allowed these principles and personalities so dear to a free and independent citizenship to slowly destroy them; how the wily politician has lulled them to indifference, the surest step to their overthrow; how political party organization has lulled men from love to freedom, from loyalty to self-government to party, but kept fast with special interest.

"We want you to show the public we start a campaign of education, how its streets, transportation systems, gas, water, public necessities of its people, have been given away or sold, how the political boss and crooked leader have grown wealthy at the people's expense.

PREDICT CUT IN NEBRASKA VOTE

Heavy Storms Expected to Cost Johnson 20,000 Ballots in Rural Districts

Omaha, Neb., April 20.—Political prophets were at sea in regard to today's presidential preference primary, as the heavy storms that have been raging all over the State were expected to keep many from the polls, thereby upsetting ordinary forecasts.

Close students of the situation said Senator Johnson would lose many more votes while William Jennings Bryan would profit to a heavy degree as the farmers were unable to reach the polls. Pershing and Wood will gain strength, it is argued, but the vote in these would not be materially affected by the storm, which made its many appearances in the country recently.

Pershing, Wood and Johnson were entered for the Republican presidential preference vote, while the name of Robert Rose of Lexington, Neb., appeared on both tickets.

On the Democratic ballot with Mr. Rose was the name of C. M. Hitchcock, United States senator, who entered the State asking support for President Wilson in the peace treaty fight.

W. J. Bryan is seeking a place with the Democratic delegation to the national convention and has refused to support Rose or Hitchcock because of the latter's opposition to that section of the Volstead enforcement act.

"If the voters instruct for Senator Hitchcock," Mr. Bryan said, "I will not go to Senate to vote, but I will go when the national convention begins to ballot on nominees."

Trio of Democrats Hopeful in Georgia

Atlanta, April 20.—The Presidential campaign in Georgia ended with promoters of the three Democratic candidates, Senator Hoke Smith, Attorney-General Palmer and Thomas E. Watson, former populist leader, expressing confidence.

Palmer is seeking the delegation on a platform indorsing the Wilson administration and demanding the peace treaty be ratified without reservations. Senator Smith has been demanding reservations and Watson, who opposes the league, has also attacked the general policy of the administration.

The race is generally thought to be between Palmer and Smith, but under the County unit rule which prevails in Georgia, Watson may get enough counties to give the balance of power in the State convention, which will select delegates to San Francisco.

IS IT A MOVE TO COVER JOHNSON?

only genuine people's government the world has ever seen.

The real danger is, however, in another direction.

It is not paradoxical, as it may seem, that Hearst may run and attract the votes of the disconsolate of all parties. But that he will not run and may be able to transfer his following to one of the candidates seeking the Republican nomination to the Presidency Hiram Johnson would not be the Hearst beneficiary if the California Senator was to receive the regular Republican nomination for President. But if Johnson failed and bolted the party to run a third ticket, as he did in 1912 then Hearst, it is said, would withdraw and bring all his influence to bear in behalf of the man who was so largely instrumental in making Woodrow Wilson a minority President eight years ago.

But it is to be noticed there is a qualification to his intimation he would accept such a candidacy. It is perhaps going far afield to hint, as it is hinted in some quarters, that the Hearst movement was started with the special intention of making Hiram Johnson the real candidate after he had failed to get the regular Republican nomination for President. Why it should be assumed Johnson cannot get the Republican nomination for President is not explained. But the authors of the Hearst-Johnson alliance tale point to the fact that the Senator's managers have already begun to cry out that the fight against him is not being fairly conducted by the so-called Old Guard.

Senator Johnson can put an end to all the rumors if he will.

He speaks here in Brooklyn this week and intends to tell why he is seeking delegates to vote for him in Chicago, in a State in which the Republican leaders, or a majority of them, favor sending an unpledged delegation to the National convention. If Mr. Johnson will say in his Brooklyn speech he intends to loyally support the nominee of the Republican convention and the entire Republican ticket, he will greatly help his fight for delegates and put an end to all rumors of deals with the promoters of the Hearst third party movement.

DEMOCRATIC CLUB WANTS HEARST

The Citizens Democratic Club of the Twentieth Assembly District in Dunbo Dumbo has a set of resolutions in which it has "requested the Honorable William Randolph Hearst to become the people's candidate for President, and head the movement that will bring our country back to a real government of the people, for the people and by the people, and not, as now, a government of politicians for themselves and special interests."

The resolutions are signed by William F. Hennessy, chairman, and Michael F. Buckley, president.

FARMERS DO NOT WANT HOOVER

Will Street and British Support Hurts Candidate, Says C. S. Barrett

New York, April 20.—C. S. Barrett, president of the National Farmers' Union, issued a statement through Senator Johnson's headquarters that Herbert Hoover is not acceptable to farmers as a candidate for the Republican nomination for President because of his alliance with Wall Street and his close association with British financial interests. Mr. Barrett was a member of the agricultural advisory committee of the food administration.

He declared that he was approached by a member of the King's Privy Council who tried to sound him on the attitude toward Hoover. The latter, formerly was a commanding figures Parliament.

In see anything in the record of Mr Hoover that you are unable to forgive" asked the Englishman.

NO HOPE FOR HOOVER.

Mr Brett replied that the public agreed Mr. Hoover was not such as to injure farmers in hoping that they would obtain equitable treatment from him. President

Mr Brett said that while his views did not tell him specifically that, a repented King George and the British government when he increasingly urged support of Hoover, the circumstances were such as to justify a conclusion. Mr Barrett called attention to the fact that as a Privy Councilor his visitor enjoyed privileges not available to the ordinary British subject. For instance, he was in a position to communicate his views of information to the government of the British government.

"I know the farmers are not ready to accept anyone who has been identified with Wall Street and who is connected with British financiers," declared Mr. Barrett. "I am not referring to Hoover personally, but to the association of Hoover with Wall Street and British financiers. I have been in communication with King George and I know."

I am only fearful that the people of the United States would rebuke the action of anyone of British and Wall Street connections in seeking a nomination for the American presidency. The farmers in making up their minds will not look to Hoover as a candidate. They would prefer to see an American to an Englishman. Nobody wants an English President."

"SI HEWE IS GIGANTIC"

Mr Brett said that it was, of course, quite easy for a man who has the confidence of millions of dollars will the organization of Wall Street behind him to get a great deal of publicity and propaganda, such as never before had to make an impression on the nation. He added:

I understand that it is the plan of Mr. Hoover's managers to make use of his friendship for us as a means of securing the nomination at Chicago, and I suppose we can do nothing against such a plan. I do hope that the farmers will not be swept off their feet by the circumstances which are calculated to present his one side only.

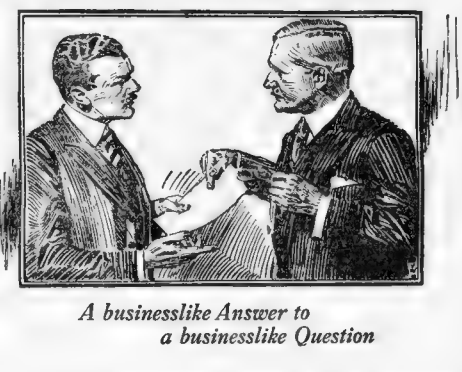
Just where and how is the money to be spent?



A businesslike Answer to a businesslike Question

THIRTY denominations cooperating in the Interchurch World Movement have budgeted their needs. No business could have done it more scientifically.

They have united to prevent the possibility of duplication or waste. At least a million dollars will be saved by the fact that thirty individual campaigns are joined in one united effort.

Each denomination has arranged its needs under six main heads as shown at the left.

Each denomination has its own detailed budget, and will administer its own funds. Your pastor has copies of the budget: examine them for yourself. In the week of April 25th-May 2nd you will be given your opportunity to help. You can do it with the full satisfaction of knowing that every dollar of your gift has its post of service assigned to it in advance.

Every dollar for a better America and a better world.
When your church calls on you, give—and give from your heart as well as from your pocket-book.

1

For the Church's Work at Home. A score of items come under this head. Consider only one. Five and a half million people in the United States cannot even read and write the English language. Who is to carry forward this vast work of Americanization if the Church does not?

2

For Hospitals and Homes. Every year thousands of men and women seriously ill are turned away from Church hospitals because of lack of room. The children's homes are compelled to turn away more children than they can receive.

3

For Religious Training. At least 12,000,000 children and young people under 25 years of age are entering American life without any religious training at all. Remembering the faith of Washington and Lincoln, do you think that America will continue to produce Washingtons and Lincolns if Faith dies out of the hearts of its youth?

4

For Higher Education. Of the 450,000 American students in institutions of higher grade, one-half are in institutions founded and supported by the Churches. Many of these institutions have had no great endowment campaigns, but their needs are just as pressing as the needs of larger schools; and you have only to read their list of alumni and alumnae to measure the value of their contribution to America.

5

For the Church's Work Abroad. Influenza came first from the Orient thirty years ago; nearly all plagues are Oriental plagues. So long as China has only one physician to every 400,000 people the Orient will continue to be a menace. So long as one-third of the babies of India die before their second year our own babies are not safe. A Christian doctor or teacher sent abroad is working for America as truly as though he worked at home.

6

Preachers' Salaries. The preacher is called the "Forgotten Man," and well he may be. Eight out of ten preachers are paid less than $20 a week!

It would seem that every 2410 years the village of Marathon, Greece, turns out a Marathon runner of considerable ability.

In the year 490 B. C., Pheidippides, an Athenian soldier in the army of Miltiades, turned a trick that sent all the world Marathon-ing, and exactly 2410 years later a [illegible] still another of the [illegible] stable from which Pheidippides started his historymaking journey—and won the twenty-fourth annual American Marathon in the excellent time of 2 hours 29 minutes and 31 seconds.

FOUR VICTORIES IN A ROW ALTER SENTIMENT

By NICK FLATLEY.

The apathy that greeted baseball's opening here has melted, just like the snows that cluttered up the ball yards a short time back. Four victories in a row for the Red Sox have rekindled all normal Boston enthusiasm, and until the team sags the turnstiles at the Fenway will burn up the bearings as of yore.

All Boston's real fans have appeared at some of the four games here [illegible] watched the two Senators contests, and 35,000 howled when the lanks were being doubly [illegible] on the Monday. And the cold [illegible] seems that just now the Red Sox [illegible] like real ball club in [illegible]

Since [illegible] scrambled up [illegible] the redskins at [illegible] have [illegible] the right [illegible] at the right [illegible] may be [illegible] but the [illegible] one at the right time [illegible] will, but they [illegible] through when it counts. [illegible] or but bob up with the ball [illegible] and [illegible]

The [illegible] fellows do just the opposite [illegible] in the pinch [illegible] and so the Red Sox, [illegible] backs, are out in front [illegible] league parade with four consecutive [illegible] to their credit. [illegible] not the luck [illegible] the Red Sox all winning combinations. The team is trying its best [illegible] making everything count and getting results.

Hardly Can Be Expected to Last

How long it will last 'tis impossible [illegible] Perhaps [illegible] that no [illegible] outfielders, and [illegible] can't [illegible] for any length [illegible] The [illegible] needs strengthening [illegible] but just the same [illegible] a corking [illegible] ball club. At [illegible] something happen [illegible] now [illegible] about the [illegible]

[illegible] the [illegible] almost 30,000 [illegible] to watch Babe Ruth [illegible] Yankees [illegible] Red Sox [illegible] were [illegible] remarked [illegible] "I [illegible] to get a [illegible] and [illegible] until he was [illegible] Boston [illegible] Yankees look like [illegible] to [illegible] the Red Sox who made the Yankees look like second raters at the first points of the game.

Our recent home-run idol didn't assimilate the spotlight much; but the Boston representatives stepped out, and made Ruth serve a lot of fruit. They started the day right, anyhow, by romping off with the morning game, 5 to 3, in hollow fashion, 6 to 0. The count for the big assemblage was 8 to 3.

Hoyt and Bush Toss Two Nifty Games

Waite Hoyt and Joseph Bush tossed two very nifty ball games. The first-named South was only hit safely five times in the morning, and had his game all tucked away after the Yanks had knocked off two runs for him in the third chapter. Bush had things pretty [illegible] in the ninth, [illegible] of the time with the serpents down the Sox scored and the Bolsterer [illegible] used along to the end.

[illegible] Shawkey has [illegible] turned to the ranks of regular pitchers. He had all his speed, and curves and things and is ready to take his turn from now out. As a matter of fact, the Sox are getting as much good pitching now as the old champions did, and are playing the same kind of a right defensive game. Naturally they are [illegible] now.

All day long the infield was getting all sorts of chances [illegible] and a pebble meant disaster. The same held true during Saturday's lengthy [illegible] Peeler in the box hitting a bit, but is fielding wonderfully well. Scott is his brilliant [illegible] field and deadly at the bat [illegible] Mc[illegible] has [illegible] slump with a [illegible] Ruth, [illegible] McInnis [illegible] double field [illegible] to [illegible]

BRAVES IN FORM REVERSAL

Errors Have Proved Costly Thus Far to Stallings Clan in Brooklyn Series

Brooklyn, April 20.—One of the cure little problems of the current baseball is the form reversal of the Braves and Dodgers in the series here, of which the Braves have lost two straight.

Before the Braves came to town the Dodgers' infield was a large joke. When their team won the first and lost the second game with the Phillies before rain stopped the series, the Brooklyn inner defenders amassed a total of seven errors, all of them needlessly rare. While Boston was going on in Brooklyn the Braves were whacking the tar out of the Giants in two games, largely by giving good support to excellent pitching.

When the Braves arrived here the odds did a fon Edward Konetchy's wild and harmless toss to Grimes who was covering first, in the eighth inning, was the only error of any kind in the second game, which Brooklyn won 4 to 2. Meanwhile those brisk Braves of the Polo Ground degenerated when they went across the bridge. Two inside five errors on Sunday, and Monday they added five more.

Maranville booted two easy blows and threw another a mile over Holke's head. He was directly responsible for two and indirectly for all four of the Brooklyn runs.

Mickey O'Neill let one throw go through him on Sunday, and another he kicked out of his hands. Monday he picked up Konetchy's bunt in front of the plate, in the second inning, after Myers had doubled, and made such a high shot to third, that Myers was safe there, and Konetchy reached first. Maranville's two base misplay of Ward's single grounder and Otto Miller's timely single, gave the Dodgers three unearned tallies in that ground. Konetchy was safe the first time at the plate in Monday's game and was laboriously worked around

DOWNES TO BOX MICHAELS

Good Bout Should Result as Both Boys Are Willing Battlers

By RINGSIDE.

Johnny Downes, South Boston lightweight star, and Nick (Young) Michaels of Syracuse are ready for their twelve-round bout which will be decided at the Grand Opera House tonight under the direction of the Armory A. A. Both boys are well matched, it is expected that the bouts will be filled with thrilling moments.

Downes has been made a slight betting choice. He is one of the best lightweights developed in this section of the country in several years. It is believed he has a better chance than any of the other local boys of winning Britt's title.

The South Boston youth is a comer in the lightweight ranks. His speed and skill enable him to [illegible] most of his opponents easily. When he decides to cut loose with both hands with an opponent within reach of fear of getting the worst of the exchange.

In Michaels the local favorite will be pitted against a willing boxer. The Syracuse lightweight has engaged [illegible] in Boston rings. He scored two victories over Charley Parker, while he also gave Benny Valger a torrid battle for twelve frames.

Michaels is an aggressive youth and can punch hard with each hand. As he performs best after being stung, he always makes a hit with the fans.

Johnny Murray of Roxbury will oppose Sully Woods, New York welterweight, in the semi-final of eight rounds. There will be two [illegible] sixes.

This Day in History—April 20, 1920

THIS is the anniversary of the birth, in 121, of Marcus Aurelius, Roman Emperor and the most noble exponent of the stoic philosophy.. To the end of his life, in 180, he was loved as a philanthropic and gentle character, learned, strong and merciful. The one blot on his name was his toleration of the persecution of the Christians.

The Opposition of Mars

AN astronomical event of importance, the opposition of Mars, occurs tomorrow night. These oppositions of the most enigmatical of the planets occur once in about every two years. On this occasion the north pole of Mars will be inclined toward the earth and it will be the spectacle of the gradual disappearance of the white snow-cap.

THE YOUNG DIANA

Story of Extraordinary Mystery, in Which the Heroine Holds Key to Youth and Beauty

An Experiment of the Future

By MARIE CORELLI

HERE Diana let a book fall in her lap, and sat idly gazing into the redness of the wood fire. Love! It was the thing she had longed for—the one joy she had missed! To be loved—to be "dear to someone else" seemed to her the very acme of all desirable attainment. For even Tennyson's hero in "Maud" once felt

If I be dear to some one else
should be to myself more dear."

Her thoughts went coming and doves down the spaces of memory to the days when she had, or was fooled into believing she had, a lover whose love was at last—a bold, splendid creature with broad shoulders and dark, curling hair and "eyes which (she) could see that spake again" and whom the betrothed bride of the beautiful creature, she had thanked God night and morning for giving so much happiness—even a child in the shape and form of Love seldom appears in one's path! The joyous gratitude of her spirit and when the very sparrows of love birds had seemed to join in a special wedding chorus to her own! Little incidents of that fabulously period of her existence at this moment began to rise herself—as if after a cold they amount. What when they were all over—and had she shed such real tears as she played to God in such desperate agony?

Was it worth while to have so shaken her to the very soul of spiritual health for any sensual pleasure? For what had he done to merit her passionate regret and weeping and wailing? He had missed her a great deal (when he was in the mood for missing her) and was more than sorry for her. He had embraced her in gusts of love and eager passion, tinged with a certain impatience at what he called her reluctant reproaches—he had rallied her by various terms of endearment such as "innocent" "rebel," and "wood-nymph"—a name he had bestowed upon her on one occasion when he had met her in a chance in a shady corner of Kew Gardens, and which, though poetical, but which she privately considered to be meaningless and not to be attached to these expressions. Wife—dearie, his regiment was ordered to India and he had to part from him he had sung, danced and with many protestations of undying tenderness—and he left her as soon as she knew that she would send for her—and would marry her—and they would be happy consummation—and so on and on—and so on—and so on—for seven years. Years grew shorter and fewer as they grew longer and fewer as they grew when Diana felt—after a long period of loneliness—that the final blow of all had been dealt.

Secret Letter.

He wrote a last letter telling her he was married, as everything of hope and promise fell away from her like the fading leaves of a withering forest tonight her friend, Roy Lane, a dissipation of the army, which she had last met in Calcutta, revived her to the extent of a letter. It was a letter she did not do this. Her heart was a tender spirit—was it possible to transfer her affections to another so strange a

She thought of it now with a half amused sigh as she sat in an easy chair by the sparkling fire in the charming room which she could for the first time call her own, surrounded by every comfort and luxury and—yes—by many a less happy woman might have grasped and envied. Her own heart was a wasted, empty thing, had spent all its wealth of passion and tenderness on a love that was shown off with effect at the moment, tying with a passive protest on the roseate skin of her

Dressing gown—soft white as the white fur which just peeped beneath the palm Sudden's she clenched it

"I should like to punish him," she said. It may be small—it may be spiteful—but it is human! I should like to see him suffer for his treachery. I should have no pity on him or his fat wife. Here she sighed at herself. How wrong she was—and she knew it—thinking mistakes about her. For fat wife herself a punishment for him. I'm sure! He's rich, and has a big house

Maisie and five very ugly children—that ought to be enough for him. I saw his wife by chance at a theater lately—like a moving—rather like poor mother in the days of her clothes—and smiling—a ghastly smile of that placid, terrible content which marks the fool! If I could do nothing else I have at least the thing self satisfied consolation of knowing that I am not like her. Even the picture of her child is grown slightly broader and duller in build with ugly furrows of commonplace on its engraven on well-poised and handsome face

Dark-necked probably by lus and hair and submitting to it frequently inevitable fate with more or less grace and again she laugh at—at least—the revered sentiment!

Like Hamlet.

"Here I am, like Hamlet exceedingly poised and revengeful," and after all I ought to be devoutly thankful" she said. "For, if I analyze myself honestly, I do not really consider I have not anything to complain of. I do would certainly possess an unfaithful husband. What I am, is the slight—very slight—trace of a sensitive conscience which I think I may say never—any whom I have got the slightest necessary to trust me you have done so. But where you in this it is unnecessary, you have not. For example—why don't you tell me straight what you mean to do with me"

His dark lustrous eyes flashed up under their drooping lids.

"What I mean to do with you?" he repeated—"Why what do you imagine—"

"I imagine nothing," she answered, quietly. "The things you teach are beyond all imagination! But as you have signed myself and my services away to you for a certain time, and as you have yourself said, you did not engage me merely to copy old Latin script. What you really want of me is, as I begin to understand, just what the vivisector wants with the animal he experiments upon. If this is so, I offer no opposition. I am not afraid of death—for I am out of love with life.

"But I want to know your aims—I want to understand the actual thing you are striving for. I shall be better able to help you if I know. You put me through one test yesterday—you saw for yourself that I had no fear of the death or life properties of the thing I took from your hand without any hesitation

When a Girl Marries

Interesting Serial by Ann Lisle

I CAME up from the orchard when I was down. Loretta knew me. She stirred and asked me where I'd been all night. I said out, mooning over the fruit trees—never thinking she'd understand. Then she smiled, and I didn't understand. She was quiet all day, didn't give a bit of trouble. I put it up to Etienne Demarrais that I was going to be a millionaire if I wasn't one already, and that since I was his oldest pal he could take a little from me and let me give his girl the things she'd have had if he hadn't lost his fortune.

"He saw it the way I did. So we picked out a school and told Val she was to go off the next week. She couldn't do enough for Loretta at the last. Seemed as if she wanted to make up to her for—loving me. And the last night Val was going to be home we walked out in the garden and said good-by. She cried too.

Girl in Maniac's Power.

Next morning she didn't come back as quick as usual from making Loretta her breakfast. I wanted to see why she was staying. And there was Val tied up in a corner of the kitchen, gagged at last exit, with Loretta sprawled at his feet, with a pair of garden shears stuck into the back of her. She'd evidently cured the day before to cut roses. I went crazy too then, thinking she'd killed my little girl.

"I had to put Loretta away, after that. When they get a maniac on the asylum is the only place for them. Val's got the scar on his neck yet under her hair.

"Once a week I'd go to the asylum to see Loretta. She didn't know me. She'd just sit and prod and talk about the devil who had stolen her man and how she'd get her sure as fate. She kept saying that she had a right to kill the girl who laughed at her and busted that she was going to marry her husband. All the time she'd see, "If I kill her she can't marry my husband, can she?"

"I trembled for poor little Helen Valerie, who just seemed to live for me. And then one day when I came to see Loretta she'd got out—escaped. Straight to the Demarrais place I went, and there was Loretta lying on the landing in Val's room. She'd got a revolver somehow and shot herself. As she lay on the floor—dead—a picture of me that Val had stuck in the corner of her room looking down at me. I found poor little Val locked in her mother's room. She was half crazy, herself, she was half crazy.

I married Val the year later and I've tried to make up to her—all she's been through. But now—

Woman Comes with Taunts

Lane Cosby ended his story with a sudden choking, sobbing breath that caught in his throat. I knew he was seeing every detail of the horror he had sketched for me. I felt as if someone ought to take me in great, big, broken man in their arms and mother him. But I didn't dare move. Lane Cosby's breathing was quiet all day, didn't give a bit of trouble. I put it up to Etienne Demarrais that I was going to be a millionaire if I wasn't one already, and that since I was his oldest pal he could take a little from me and let me give his girl the things she'd have had if he hadn't lost his fortune.

◆ from the mirror above a girl's chintz-hung dresser a man's picture staring down. Lane's own picture. In the dead woman's hand Etienne's pistol

How had she come by this weapon?

That poor, crazed Loretta Cosby had taken her life I had no doubt. That Valerie was innocent before the law I felt sure. But even the bare outlines of her story revealed who had inspired the insane woman to take her own worthless life unaided. And I could guess who had given her the weapon.

There was no reason for the law to take cognizance of Valerie Cosby. But if once Society—Val's world—knew her story, how could it judge her? I had caught Lane and Val exchanging looks of fear—and hatred. Fear. Now I knew why. Would their world ever find out and if it did how would it judge?

For Val I had no sympathy. For Lane Cosby I had the deepest pity. He was no big and no subtle man, so completely engrossed in his love for Val. She had calculated her effects perfectly. She had come into Lane's prosaic world like one who was struggling with the ugliest tragedy our law courts can see. The law that binds a man and woman together in—and—for—life. He was too kind too full of pity to speak a word out. Val had found it for him.

All this seemed clear to me. What I couldn't see was why Evey should die this way and threaten Val with it. But I saw plainly what I had to do now, if I really meant to help this helpless man who had always been so loyal to Jim

"What's in a Name?"

By MILDRED MARSHALL

STEPHANIE

A VERY unusual name is Stephanie. Of late it has had great vogue and represents a revival of interest in the old Greek names, which had far more significance than our modern versions. Stephanie, for instance, originates with the Greek games, when the wreath of the conqueror was an appropriate allusion to those games where the Greek youth delighted to contend. The wreath was called a stephanos, and it is more than likely that the first proper name Stephanos was so called by a proud family whose representative had returned with a leafy crown on his brow.

Stephen, the contraction, was an old Greek name borne by the son of Thucydides, before it was given to the Hellenist deacon who achieved the greatest of all victories and won the spiritual crown. Old Greek hymn writers celebrated this accordance of name and destiny.

"Thou by name a crown implies;
Meetly then in pangs thou diest,
For the crown of righteousness"

Stephanie is the feminine form approved in Greece; it also signifies a crown. It received a sacred prominence since no less than seven saints bore the masculine form of it, including the great Saint Stephen, the martyr. The English gained its use, it is said, through William the Conqueror, who dedicated to Saint Stephen the Abbey built at Caen to expiate the marriage with the already betrothed Matilda

The English have placed the stamp of their own spelling upon it and, while using Stephanie to a large extent, also favor Stephana. The French call her Estaphiane, Stefanie, Estephanie and Tiennette. Estephania is the Portuguese form and Stephenine the German. Russia changes her to Stephanida and Stepanida

Stephanie's jewel is the sapphire, which will protect her from all harm and is said to attract divine favor to its wearer

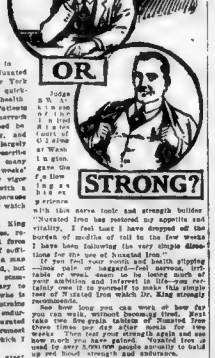
How Will You Feel From To-day?

Two Weeks Weak, Nervous and Tired Out or Strong, Vigorous and Full of Energy?



New York Physician Tells How Nuxated Iron Increases the Strength and Endurance of Nervous, Weak and Run-Down People in Two Weeks' Time, In Many Instances

"One of the most remarkable things to me about the use of organic iron—Nuxated Iron" says Dr. Ferdinand King, New York physician and medical author, "is the quickness with which most people feel its health giving and strength-giving effect. Patients come to me worn out with the nervous struggle of modern life, under-nourished because of modern methods of cooking, and often their run-down condition is due largely to lack of iron in the blood. I prescribe organic iron—Nuxated Iron—and in many cases they come back to me in two weeks' time with sparkling eyes and a new vigor in their step—the different people with a happier, healthier outlook on life—all because they have given their blood the iron for which it was starving.

"Iron is the red blood food." Dr. King adds, "that helps strengthen the nerves, restores wasted tissues and give renewed force and power to the whole body. Lack of sufficient iron in the blood not only makes a man nervous, unhealthy and easily fatigued, but it robs him of that virile force, that stamina, that strength of will and energy necessary to success. I strongly advise every man who is ragged out by worry, nervousness and other strain or who has lost his strength, energy and endurance by taking pure organic iron—Nuxated Iron—before it is too late. I consider it one of the foremost blood and body builders, the best to which I ever had recourse."

Judge [illegible] of the [illegible] United States Circuit Court of Appeals, gave the following experience with this nerve tonic and strength builder: "Nuxated Iron has restored my appetite and vitality, I feel that I have dropped off the burden of months of toil in the few weeks I have been taking it. I have had many applications for the use of Nuxated Iron."

If you feel your vitality and health slipping—lose pale or haggard—feel nervous, irritable or tired, easily exhausted, lacking ambition and interest in life—you really owe it to yourself to make this simple test of Nuxated Iron which Dr. King strongly recommends.

See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two five-grain tablets of Nuxated Iron three times per day after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength again and see what a new measure of health and strength you have gained by using this well known iron tonic and blood builder, the best to which I ever had recourse."

Manufacturers Note: Nuxated Iron, which is now for sale in the United States by physicians is not a secret remedy but one which is well known to druggists everywhere. Unlike the older iron tonics it does not injure the teeth, make one constipated or upset the stomach. Nuxated Iron is guaranteed by the manufacturers to enormously increase the strength and endurance of any man or woman within two weeks' time or money will be refunded. It is dispensed in this city by Miller-Jones-Lincoln and all other druggists.

MORE BRITISH GOLD COMING TO NEW YORK

More gold is to be shipped to New York by England, according to an international banker, who is described as being in close touch with treasury operations. He says that shipments to date are only a small part of what may be expected before the Anglo-French loan matures in the autumn. British shipments to date approximate $50,000,000. Shipments of from $100,000,000 to $150,000,000 have been predicted.

While gold holdings of the United States on April 1 totalled but 2,662,284,553, the smallest amount since October, 1916, they would have amounted to $2,775,065,553 if this government had imported the $112,781,000 owned by Federal Reserve banks and now in Bank of England vaults. It was paid by Germany for foodstuffs.

MEASURES THAT WOULD CURE MOST OF THE TROUBLES AND TENDENCIES WHICH DISTRESS AND ALARM US TODAY

(1) To nominate for the Presidency by direct nomination and to elect by popular vote.
(2) To elect the Cabinet officers and make them responsible to Congress.
(3) To deprive the President of the power of patronage; to put all public offices as nearly as possible under Civil Service, and have appointments made by a committee of Congress.
(4) To elect Federal Judges, including the Supreme Court Justices, by popular vote.
(5) To apply the Initiative, the Referendum and the Recall to national matters.

Mr. Dallinger's Report on National Censorship of Films Applies Today

Several years ago a bill was introduced in Congress establishing censorship of the moving pictures throughout the country. It was referred to a committee of which Hon. Frederick W. Dallinger of Massachusetts was a member.

A hearing was held by the committee, before which appeared all sorts of persons, many of them honest and well-meaning, some of them busybodies without a job, and some of them seeking to establish a nuisance value with a rich industry.

The character of the bill and the character of the people urging it were just alike; the same as that of the pending Massachusetts Censorship Bill and the people who advocate it in Massachusetts. Mr. Dallinger filed a report against the bill. He presented certain fundamental reasons against prepublicity that strike into the heart of our democracy.

Everyone who is inclined to think that prepublicity censorship of moving pictures is sound ought to read Mr. Dallinger's report. We quote part of it as follows:

The most serious objection to this bill lies in the power it seeks to give an executive commission to trammel the moving-picture art, the propagandist power of which is already marvelously developed, and the potential power of which seems limitless.

It is in this rapidly-developing power and use of propaganda that the moving-picture film has taken its place beside speech and press as a thing to be kept free from arbitrary control in the interest of free institutions. The essence of free speech and of a free press is the power for propaganda as the media of intelligence. It was this power which reactionary authority in the old days sought to repress and which the guardians of free institutions struggled to keep free. In the beginning the attack was made upon free speech and upon free drama before the development of the printing press gave writing and printing also an effective power of propaganda.

Before the influence of the press upon public opinion became effective, and before it was recognised as a possible aid to the discussion of political, economic and social questions, the drama was largely used as a propagandist instrumentality. Down even to the time of Walpole's ministry in England the drama was a very effective means of stirring public opinion, and the early laws providing for the censorship of the drama were political devices to muzzle it as an instrument which might be used against those in power.

Walpole, whose government was the most corrupt England ever knew, found his power threatened by a popular play exposing the venality of his political followers, and he learned that another play was about to be produced. It was to stop this second play that he caused to be enacted the present censorship law in England. It was effective. All attempts to arouse the people of England to the shame of Walpole's government through the medium of the theatre ceased immediately.

Thus, we see that the original and dominating purpose of the censorship of the drama in England was distinctly political, as was demonstrated by the parliamentary investigation of 1909. But the rapid development in the art of printing soon overshadowed the drama in the effectiveness of its propagandist power that the struggle to free the drama from censorship was forgotten in the more important struggle to keep the new power—the power of the press—free.

For the moment that place and privilege recognized the power of the product of the printing press to affect public opinion, they began to seek means to control it by the device of prepublicity censorship. The struggle to keep the media of intelligence free from the restraint of forward waged around the question of free speech and a free press until these institutions won their final victory and became firmly planted in the unwritten constitution of Great Britain and in all our own written instruments. Our Federal Constitution, in Article 1 of the Amendments, says:

"Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion or prohibiting the free exercise thereof, or abridging the freedom of speech or of the press, or the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the government for a redress of grievances."

If we keep in mind the important fact that the vital thing in speech and press which was sought on the one hand to be restrained and trammeled, and on the other hand to be kept free was the power of propaganda, we shall understand more clearly the importance of bringing the moving-picture film within the constitutional guarantee of a free speech and a free press, because the analogy in principle and necessity is complete. Indeed, the history of the attempt to censor moving-picture films bears a close analogy to the history of the attempt to abridge the freedom of speech and of the press.

In Massachusetts an organization to ameliorate the conditions of child labor has been exhibiting moving-pictures of actual conditions in certain manufacturing plants, and the representatives of these manufacturers attempted to stop these exhibitions. If Massachusetts had had a board of censors, who knows what its action would have been in this case?

In Massachusetts, also, moving pictures have been recently used to illustrate the workings of savings bank insurance, an institution very bitterly opposed by the old line insurance companies.

In France the moving-picture films were credited with the tremendous success of the recent French loan, the greatest the world has ever known.

Do we dare to put in the control of an executive board such an extraordinary power—a power to suppress a medium of thought expression which in this country alone speaks to 20,000,000 people every day?

In short, this bill violates the principle of the constitutional guaranty of a free press. It denies to the public the very utility in this wonderful new art which made it so necessary to keep the press free. It gives a few men despotic control over an art which at the very threshold of its development has power to influence more than 20,000,000 people every day. It completes the vicious circle by making it inevitable that the powerful moving-picture industry, already the fourth greatest in the country, will be precipitated into politics and used for political purposes by the party in power.

Linking the Lakes to Gulf Will Open Big Markets

One often hears in a vague way of the activities of the Mississippi Valley, but one seldom takes the time to visualize the future of that great expanse of territory lying between the hills of the East and of the West, and watered by the river which has nurtured it and given to it its name.

How many of us are aware, for instance, that in the valley is grown 76 per cent. of our wheat, 85 per cent. of our corn, 70 per cent. of our cotton and 58 per cent. of our wool? Too few of us know and realize that in this fertile strip there is annually produced 47 per cent. of our lumber, 94 per cent. of our iron ore, 69 per cent. of our petroleum, to say nothing of the hog, sheep and cattle production, which are, respectively, 81 per cent., 52 per cent. and 74 per cent. of the entire output of the country.

A deep waterway, linking the lakes with the Gulf of Mexico, would go far toward bringing to the market places of the Middle West the products of Central and South America, and at the same time provide a logical market price for the finished product of the same region.

The West was founded by men with a vision. As our horizon extends, the need of men of vision is as great as ever before.

More Truth Than Poetry

Why Be Restless?

By S. E. KISER

CHEER up, fellow men, and brothers;
Bread is on the rise, it's true,
And your babies and their mothers
May have comforts that are few,
But be cheerful still; keep going
On your ways with hopeful smiles;
Somewhere cocoanuts are growing
And soft breezes still are blowing
Fragrance out of pearl-rimmed isles.

COAL is going up, they tell us;
Food and clothes are on the jump;
But don't grumble or be jealous
Of the ones who make us hump;
Find sweet comfort in recalling
Poor old Russia's dismal state;
There the palace walls are falling
And the carrion bird is calling
Sadly to its pensive mate.

DON'T permit yourself to grumble
At the gentle profiteer;
Hand it to him and be humble.
Add your little to his cheer;
Never suffer life's attraction
To be lessened or grow dim
Through the profit-taker's action;
Try to find sweet satisfaction
In the joy that comes to him.

IT is wicked, and you know it,
To appear to have a doubt;
When they hurt you, never show it;
Always keep the bright side out.
There are islands where it matters
Little what one has to wear;
If your children are in tatters
And have nothing on their platters,
Dream of calm contentment there.

SENATOR HIRAM Johnson,
PENNSYLVANIA HOTEL,
NEW YORK City.
YOU WON'T remember.
BUT I do.
AND MY wife does.
AND YOU'RE very busy.
AND I'VE tried to see you.
BUT YOU'VE been away.
AND I want to remind you.
THAT ONE time.
OUT IN California.
WHEN YOU were Governor.
AND I was a scribe.
AND WE were friends.
AND ON Christmas time.
WE REMEMBERED each other.
AND YOU sent to us.
ON CHRISTMAS morning.
TO OUR hotel.
A GILDED basket.
WITH A great bowed handle.
AND IN the basket.
A ROUND tin thing.
THAT WAS filled with earth.
AND GROWING from it,
WAS A beautiful flower.
AND WHAT its name was.
I CAN'T remember.
BUT I'M sure my wife would.
BUT ANYWAY.
THE FLOWER bloomed.
FOR WEEKS and weeks.
AND EVERY morning.
IT SAT in the sun.
ON THE window sill.
AND THEN at last.
AS FLOWERS will.
IT FADED away.
IN THE hotel room.
AND THERE came a day.
WHEN WE emptied it out.
FROM ITS round tin bed.
AND THE chambermaid.
ON HER morning trip.
TOOK EARTH and plant.
AND CARRIED it off.
BUT THE basket stayed.
AND WE filled it again.
WITH ANOTHER plant.
AND ABOUT the time.
THAT THIS other plant.
HAD BEGUN to fade.
THERE CAME the call.
FROM THE faraway East.
AND WE packed our things.
AND ALONG with them.
CAME THE empty basket.
THAT YOU had sent.
AND OF all the things.
THAT WE'VE ever had.
IT WAS the one.
THAT WAS given us.
BY ANYONE.
WHO MIGHT ever be President.
OF THE United States.
AND NOW it's lost.
AND WHEREVER it went.
WE CAN'T figure out.
AND WE wanted to know.
IF YOU get to be President.
IF YOU'D mind very much.
IF WE'D buy a basket.
THAT LOOKED like yours.
AND JUST pretend.
THAT IT really was yours.

I THANK you.

A SECRET OF SUCCESS IS MIND FOCUS

By Garrett P. Serviss

"Please explain the extent of 'concentration.' Is not mental telepathy the same as concentration? To what advantage could either or both be used? Kindly explain how to concentrate so as to get the results desired.—J. C."

I DO not know that there is any such thing as "mental telepathy." I have never seen any proof of it, and a special investigation not long ago at the Leland Stanford University, an investigation in which no less than 10,000 experiments were tried, led to the result that the number of cases in which an idea or impression seemed to have been conveyed from one brain to another formed precisely the same percentage of the total number that it should have done by the ordinary laws of chance without any telepathic effort whatever.

In other words, this investigation appeared to show that when identical thoughts or identical mental images occur to two persons simultaneously it is a matter of simple coincidence and not to the result of an occult communication between brains.

As to mental concentration, it must naturally be associated with telepathic experiments. It forms their very basis. But I doubt, as things stand at present, whether such concentration has any effect outside the mind of the person who exercises it.

Concentrate your mind upon your work, whatever it may be; that is the great secret of success. Things that seem almost miraculous may be achieved by persistent concentration of attention and purpose. It is hardly too much to say that you can make almost whatever you like of yourself by means of this kind of mental control.

Try it, and so satisfy yourself that your mind is no machine, a chemical jack-in-the-box of the brain, but an entity of some kind that uses the brain for its instrument and sharpens and improves the instrument as its will, or at your will—for perhaps "you" are the governor and the mind is your agent, and by your agent you use the tools of the brain.

Whether you are trying to convey your thought to another by "mental telepathy" or to gather your intellectual energies for use at home, the process of concentration is precisely the same. Focus your thoughts as a lens focuses the sunbeams—all together at a point.

Letters to the Editor

Against Officers

Editor Boston American:

I note with much chagrin that the bonus committee of Congress is discriminating against line officers, and I wish to protest strongly against its action.

I have been a lieutenant in the army for over two years, during which time my expenditure for clothes and equipment was $850. From my salary I had to maintain a home in the States for my wife and family. I also loaned a great many francs to my men, never to get them back. Now I find that my patriotic duties have set me back a thousand dollars, and my savings were always too meagre to be drawn upon, especially for a family man.

I was one of the first reserve officers to enter the service, and I have seen twenty-one months of service in France, mostly with the 26th Division. I am entitled to three gold service chevrons, one wound chevron and four battle clasps.

Other countries have given liberal allowances to their officers. There are a great many line officers just as much in need of extra compensation as the average private, and there are a great many of the higher non-commissioned personnel who are in less need of adjusted compensation than the average lieutenant or captain. Justice for every man in the service should be requested from the already unpopular, boneheaded committee.

Lameness Helps
Encouraging Superstition
Wise Old England
Foolish Antagonism

—By Arthur Brisbane—

Copyright, 1920.

Yesterday, April 19th, was the anniversary of Byron's death. It was an anniversary that should interest and encourage all those that have the misfortune, or good fortune, to be deformed in any way.

Byron had a club foot, walked imperfectly, was deeply conscious of his defect, not reconciled by the fact that he had curly hair and a beautiful face. When he entered a drawing room he ran, because his lameness showed less in running. He rode horseback and swam a good deal, because those exercises concealed his lameness. He was a poor swimmer, and would have drowned had not his Scotch friend Trelawney pulled him out on one occasion.

If you like Bryon's poetry, as you should, thank his lameness for it. Lameness compelled him to work and achieve with his brain the complete perfection denied to his body.

Bryon proved, for the consolation of some, that power can always assert itself. He came of bad blood, was a drunkard at one time, like Coleridge and many others. He conquered that and conquered everything because, in the language of practical America, "He had the goods" back of his high and narrow "forehead, of a marble whiteness."

People that give money to the Red Cross would like to know what is done with the money. They might ask: "To what extent is the money spent in the scientific fighting of disease and poverty, to what extent is it used to encourage picturesque but harmful superstition?"

In Washington a gentleman who calls himself a healer, collects the sick, with or without contagious disease, the maimed and the lame, puts his hands on them and says that he "cured them." You read in Washington newspapers that the sick "were helped or carried to the healer by Red Cross motors," and you wonder how much Red Cross money and energy is spent in demonstrations of that kind.

It is much more satisfactory in California. A healer had gathered together hundreds of diseased people, including two or three that had leprosy. No Red Cross workers helped in the dangerous experiment of mixing diseases and spreading contagion.

An official order told the healer to give up his dangerous business, they burned down the shacks in which an uncertain collection of diseases had been crowded together. California went ahead on the modern basis which recognizes with deep reverence the miracles of nineteen hundred years ago, but relies with equally deep reverence on the science of 1920.

Sir E. M. Edgar of England, who probably knows, says England has cornered the oil supply of the world.

In ten years the United States will have to buy every year five hundred million barrels of oil from England.

Nothing surprising in the prediction, and there wouldn't be anything surprising in the realization of the prophecy. England has statesmen, men that work intelligently for England. This country has politicians and sloppy sentimentalists that work for everything more or less except the welfare of the American people as a whole.

In the Englishman's prediction that we shall soon depend upon England for our oil, we seem to have another reason for settling our troubles and doing business with Russia if we can.

On the west coast of the Caspian Sea and elsewhere, Lenin controls oil wells of the greatest value. In Baku you may see ruined temples of Parsee fire worshippers, inspired by Zoroaster. They set fire to gas or oil wells two thousand or more years ago, getting a first-class attraction to draw religious pilgrims. Plenty of oil remains. We ought to get some of it.

England probably has the oil wells in mind, in its present negotiations with Russia.

The government of the United States ought for a moment to forget the grand question, "Who is to be our next President?" and think about the question, "Where is the next generation to get its oil?"

The strike is nearly over and, as usual, spokesmen and newspapers that belong to corporations are doing what they can to irritate and antagonize workers and make the next strike come soon. How often in certain newspapers did you ever hear a good word said about anything in overalls, until bankers, Congressmen and others suddenly got it into their heads to wear them?
